IFC Consultation: Anticipated Impact Measurement and Monitoring Sector Frameworks

The Anticipated Impact Measurement and Monitoring (AIMM) system enables IFC to estimate the expected development impact of our investments—allowing us to set ambitious yet achievable targets and select projects with the greatest potential for financial sustainability and development impact. IFC began its public consultation process of AIMM's core project assessment tool – the AIMM Sector Frameworks – on April 1st, 2019. The 25 frameworks are being released for public consultation in four subsequent sets, and each will have a 45-day consultation period. Visit www.ifc.org/aimm/consultation to learn more.

IFC Consultation: Green Equity Approach to Financial Institutions

Last Fall, IFC's CEO laid out in a blog an ambitious goal to work with financial institution clients who are committed to reducing or eliminating their exposure to coal. Supporting the World Bank Group's climate strategy, this new approach aims to increase climate lending and reduce exposure to coal in clients where IFC has equity, or an equity-like, exposure. Through this green equity approach, IFC hopes to continue its leadership in the climate space by testing the demand among its financial institution clients for greener portfolio management and commitment to tackling climate issues. Comments on the consultative draft may be submitted until May 17, 2019. You may submit comments to greenequitycomments@ifc.org.

Universal Health Coverage on the Global Agenda in 2019: the Key role of CSOs

The 2019 World Bank Spring Meetings, as always, featured stimulating, constructive, and, sometimes avantgarde discussions and conversations. One of such productive sessions was a lunch meeting organized by the World Bank Group Health Nutrition and Population Global Practice in partnership with the Civil Society Engagement Mechanism for UHC2030 (CSEM).

Think local, act local: Working with civil society for better development outcomes in Burkina Faso

We love local. Whether it's buying vegetables directly from your local farmer, frequenting a neighborhood business, or working as a community activist, many of us believe that solutions to some of our most pressing problems lie at least in part in a small series of actions taken from the ground up. This may be especially true in countries with limited state capacity, where community-based organizations (CBOs) are often among the highest-functioning entities at the local level.
