

The overarching goal of the CPF is to support Tunisia’s efforts to renew its social contract by defining an economic model with opportunities for those left behind. It aims to continue to support structural changes initiated under the previous Interim Strategy Note while addressing near-term challenges created by the fragile environment. It is therefore built around three pillars:

- i) restoring an environment conducive to sustainable growth and private sector-led job creation;
- ii) reducing regional disparities; and
- iii) promoting increased social inclusion and reducing fragility with an emphasis on youth and two cross-cutting theme of gender and governance as well as a “private sector lens”.
