10:15-11:30 PLENARY SESSION I
Innovation for Growth: Why Now More Than Ever?
Productivity growth in Europe has stagnated. Job creation has been stalled since the financial crisis. The Europe 2020 strategy sets new and ambitious targets for employment, education, and R&D spending.
How proactive EU, national, and regional innovation policies and industry specific programs could prepare for future and sustainable economic growth and achieve the stated vision. What are the lessons learnt from the previous decade? What are the common future challenges? And what is most relevant to transition and developing economies?
The session’s discussions will highlight some of the findings from the World Bank’s Flagship on Innovation.

Panelists:
- Bill Maloney, Chief Economist, Equitable Growth, Finance, and Institutions, World Bank Group
- Sergei Guriev, Chief Economist, EBRD
- Roman Arjona Gracia, Chief Economist at DG Research and Innovation, European Commission
- Susana Borras, Professor, Copenhagen Business School

Moderator: Linda van Gelder, Country Director, World Bank Group
Facilitator: Anwar Aridi

PLENARY SESSIONS IV

Partnersing on Innovation: Impact of Innovation Funding Programs (EU, OECD, EIB, WBG)

How effective has EU funding for innovation programs been, including that for Smart Specialization Strategies and Research Collaboration Programs like Horizon 2020? What impact has the influx of EU funds had on innovation, including the potential crowding out effect? The effectiveness of policies and instruments targeting industrial competitiveness in the age of innovation, especially RIS3. Do we have adequate tools to evaluate the outcomes that it has or has not delivered? Has the private sector fulfilled its role in driving innovation financing? The role of European MNEs and SMEs and cross border collaborations.

Panelists:
- Marialisa Motta, Practice Manager, Finance, Competitiveness and Innovation Global Practice
- Flavia Palanza, Director, Operations, Neighboring Countries Department, European Investment Bank
- Mario Cervantes, Science and Technology Policy Division, Directorate for Science, Technology and Industry, OECD

ROUNDTABLE II

Financing Innovative Firms: from Early Stage to Growth Investments - How to Address Failures Along the Firm Lifecycle

Public sector interventions to provide financing or indirect support at the firm and the ecosystem levels are usually justified based on the market and coordination failures argument. Factors such as the nature of the innovation activity and its industry, the size and age of the firm and the stage of the innovation process are important elements in determining access to finance constraints and what could be effective public sector solutions. The sessions will discuss among others issues such as: i) whether neutrality or targeting is more desirable especially related to early stages of innovation; ii) where, when, and how, should governments provide or facilitate financing to innovative ventures without crowding out private funds and distorting the markets?; iii) is there a role for governments in the commercialization and scaling-up stage beyond improving the overall regulatory and institutional framework?

Panelists:
- Mr. Ivan Rakonjac, Director, Serbia Innovation Fund, Serbia
- Mr. Mislav Jurisic, Head of Division for Grants, Research, Development and Innovation (RDI), Hamag-Bicro, Croatia
- Mr. Bagrat Yengibaryan, Executive Director of the Enterprise Incubator Foundation, Armenia
- Mr. Igor Kočiš, Founder and CEO, GA Drilling

Moderator: Mario Guadamillas, Practice Manager, Finance, Competitiveness and Innovation Global Practice, World Bank Group

Facilitator: Jieun Choi

Moderator: Cristian Aedo, Practice Manager, Education Global Practice, World Bank Group
Facilitator: Karen Grigorian

Parallel Break-Out Session 3: Policy Experiments in Innovation and Competitiveness

The approach to policies supporting innovation, competitiveness, and productivity growth has been evolving, with greater emphasis placed on rigorous evaluation methods. This involves making much more use of randomized controlled trials (RCTs) to find out what works and what doesn’t (and when), and learning from the successful experience in other fields.

IGL is a global collaboration, housed at NESTA, that aims to enable, support, undertake and disseminate high impact research that uses RCTs to improve the design of programs and institutions that help make economies more innovative and entrepreneurial. The Competitiveness Policy Evaluation Lab (or ComPEL) is an umbrella program at the Finance, Innovation, and Competitiveness (FCI) Global Practice at the World Bank Group to support and coordinate impact evaluation efforts to inform policy making on firm productivity, job creation, and investment. The session will present some of the latest evidence collected by the two initiatives, discuss future research directions, and make practical suggestions on incorporating experimental evidence and robust M&E frameworks as part of policy design and implementation.

Panelists:
- Albert Bravo-Briosca, Innovation Growth Labs, NESTA
- Ana Goicoechea, ComPEL, World Bank Group
- Aleksandr Khachaturyan, Director, Center for Strategic Initiatives Foundation (Armenia)

Moderator: Denis Medvedev, Lead Economist, Finance, Competitiveness and Innovation, World Bank Group
Facilitator: Anwar Aridi
Case on Point: Ukraine Innovation Policy Reforms, Challenges, and Lessons from Transition Economies

Ukraine is a European economic transition story in the making with impressive human capital potential, scientific and technological legacies, and industrial capacity. Nevertheless, it is struggling with sluggish growth, brain drain, decline of research infrastructure, and pending reforms. What can Ukraine learn from the experiences of regional economies with similar legacies as it contemplates innovation-related reforms? What are the immediate reforms as well as the long-term ones?

This discussion will highlight (i) Ukraine’s innovation potential and strengths as well as its immediate challenges (ii) the relevant experiences and lessons from neighboring and regional economies such as Poland, Romania, Turkey, and others.

- Oleksandr Saienko, Minister of the Cabinet of Ministers, Ukraine
- Katarina Mathernova, Deputy Director-General, European Neighbourhood Policy and Enlargement Negotiations, European Commission
- Adrian Curaj, Former Minister of Education and Scientific Research of Romania
- Hans Chang, Policy Support Facility, Peer Review Team, European Commission
- Alla Oliinyk, National Innovation Council of Ukraine

Moderator: Anwar Aridi, Private Sector Specialist, WBG, Facilitator: Iryna Kuzmina
