BOGOR, Indonesia – May 2020 - Update from 19 March 2019

The Indonesian government has announced plans to sell 7.3 million hectares of land for development.

The government has set aside 7.3 million hectares of land for development and has offered to sell the land to private investors. The land is located in the provinces of Central Java, East Java, and Sulawesi.

The government is also considering the possibility of selling the land to foreign investors. The sale of the land will be subject to certain conditions, such as the preservation of natural resources and the protection of the rights of local communities.

The government has estimated that the sale of the land could generate up to $1 billion in revenue for the government.

The sale of the land is part of the government’s effort to increase the country’s economic growth and create jobs.

The government has already started to prepare the land for sale and has appointed a task force to oversee the process.

The government has also invited foreign investors to express their interest in the land.

The sale of the land is expected to be completed by the end of this year.
