The World Bank has made a $90 million loan for Algeria's Fourth Education Project. The $150.5 million project will help alleviate acute manpower shortages of high- and middle-level technicians and skilled craftsmen, contribute to reducing regional inequalities by decentralizing related training facilities, and support local industrial development. (Refer to World Bank News Release No. 78/114)
