The Debt Management Performance Assessment (DeMPA) is a standardized evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses in government debt management. It evaluates a number of indicators of healthy performance, including how a government coordinates debt management with macroeconomic policies, forecasts its cash flows, and controls debt management transactions.

A DeMPA evaluation helps establish priorities and design further reform programs. Importantly, it is often used to facilitate monitoring of performance over time through repeated assessments.