Session Descriptions

Day 2 - Wednesday, April 18, 2018

Transport Projects for Development: Addressing Social Impacts

9:00 am – 10:30 am
Room I 2-210

Sponsor: Bank Information Center with Sociedad y Discapacidad

Panellists:

- Elana Berger (Executive Director, Bank Information Center) (Moderator)
- Silvana Queija (Executive Director, Sociedad y Discapacidad)
- Mario Paniagua (Advisor, Indigenous Peoples, Fundación Tierra)
- José Luis Irigoyen (Senior Director, Transport and Digital Development Global Practice, World Bank)

This panel will cover common social risks and impacts in transport projects for development and discuss specific examples of issues affecting persons with disabilities and indigenous peoples. It will include recommendations for development finance institutions to address these risks and impacts and ensure that transportation systems are accessible and inclusive.

Big Shift: How Can the Development Banks Align with the Paris Climate Agreement?

9:00 am – 10:30 am
Room I 2-220

Sponsor: E3G with Bank Information Center Europe, Christian Aid, Ugrewald

Panellists:

- Jason Allford (Australian Executive Director, World Bank) (Moderator)
- Helena Wright (Senior Policy Advisor, E3G)
- Nezir Sinani (Director, Bank Information Centre Europe)
- John Roome (Senior Director, Climate Change Global Practice, World Bank)
- Juan Pablo Bonilla (Manager of the Climate Change and Sustainable Development Sector, Inter-American Development Bank)

Multilateral Development Banks have a vital role in supporting member countries to meet the agreed goals under the Paris Agreement on climate change. How can they align their activities and shift investment from fossil fuels to clean energy? This event will present the latest research and case studies.

Developing Leadership Capacity to Achieve SDG 4: Creating Impact in and Beyond the Classroom in the Americas

9:00 am – 10:30 am

Room I 2-250

Sponsor: Basic Education Coalition

Panellists:

- Dan Stoner (Co-Chair, Basic Education Coalition) (Moderator)
- Erik Ramirez (Chief Executive Officer, Enseña por México)
- Tomás Vergara (Chief Program Officer, Enseña Chile)
- Luis Benveniste (Director, Education Global Practice, World Bank)

CSOs, like Enseña por México and Enseña Chile, have proven that focusing on building participant leadership capacity to lead inside and outside of the classroom can develop the talent necessary for short-term impact on students and medium-term impact on the leadership within the system, accelerating progress towards SDG 4.

Economies in Transition: Inequality and IMF policies in the Arab Region

9:00 am – 10:30 am

Room IMF HQ2 03B-838B

Sponsor: Arab NGO Network for Development (ANND)

Panellists:

- Mahinour El-Badrawi (Researcher, Center of Economic and Social Rights - Egypt) (Moderator)
- Salma Hussein (Researcher, Egyptian Initiative for Personal Rights)
- Ahmad Awad (Executive Director, Phoenix Center - Jordan)
- Björn Rother (Advisor and Mission Chief for Tunisia, International Monetary Fund, Middle East and Central Asia Department)

Arab economies have implemented fiscal and monetary policies having the sole aim of decreasing public deficit. Many of these were suggested by IFIs without considering their impact on inequality. A paradigm shift is crucial where social protection, growth and reducing inequalities are perceived as complements and not a trade-off.

Filling the LGBTI Data Gap: Insights from Research in Thailand and Western Balkans

11:00 am – 12:30 pm

Room I 2-210

Sponsor: ERA - LGBTI Equal Rights Association for Western Balkans and Turkey with Bank Information Center Europe, The Human Rights Campaign, The Council for Global Equality, World Bank GSURR SOGI, Knowledge Silo Buster, The National LGBT Chamber of Commerce

Panellists:

- David Kinder (UK Alternate Executive Director, World Bank) (Moderator)
- Clifton Cortez (Advisor, Social, Urban, Rural and Resilience Global Practice, World Bank)
- Dragana Todorović (Executive Director, ERA - LGBTI Equal Rights Association for Western Balkans and Turkey)
- Nebojša Kaluđerović (Ambassador of Montenegro to USA)

- Gabriel Alves de Faria (Founder and Director, Not Only Voices)

The global knowledge gap on lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and intersex people makes it difficult to design inclusive programs and policies. WBG teams have collected much needed data on the experiences of LGBTI people in Thailand and Western Balkans. Their work shows that filling the LGBTI data gap is possible.

Sustainable Financing for Nutrition: Perspectives from High-Burden Countries

11:00 am – 12:30 pm

Sponsor: Save The Children

Room I 2-220

Panellists:

- Gwen Hines (Executive Director, Global Programs, Save the Children UK) (Moderator)
- Hon. Zainab Ahmed (Minister of State, Ministry of Budget and National Planning, Government of Nigeria)
- Ramatu Budah-Aliyu (Advocacy Advisor, Child Development Grant Program, Save the Children Nigeria)
- Andrea Menefee (Nutrition Advisor, Maternal Child Cash Transfer Program, Save the Children's Department of Global Health)
- Luc Laviolette (Lead Health Specialist and Lead of Country Programs, Global Financing Facility, World Bank)

The current nutrition financing paradigm is unable to provide the funding needed to deliver on SDG2. This session examines what is required to achieve the 2030 goal, showcases nutrition work in high burden countries, and lays out key new principles for sustainable nutrition financing.

Speakers:

- Niranjali Amerasinghe (Senior Associate, Sustainable Finance Center, World Resources Institute)
- Mikko Ollikainen (Manager, Adaptation Fund Board Secretariat, World Bank Group)
- Liane Schalatek (Associate Director, Heinrich Boell Foundation US)
- Jean-Paul Brice Affana (Policy Advisor, Germanwatch and Adaptation Fund NGO Network)

Panelists:

- Archana Godbole (Director, Applied Environmental Research Foundation)

The participation of non-state actors is vital for effectively catalyzing and scaling up investments for renewable energy, clean technology, sustainable forests and climate resilient projects. This session will showcase mechanisms and approaches for enhancing inclusive participation, accountability, and transparency in climate finance decision-making that is important to climate outcomes. It will also solicit participant views, thoughts and perspectives on how the SAN can consolidate and nurture innovative partnerships.

Developing an IMF institutional View on Social Protection: A Consultation with Civil Society

2:00 pm – 3:30 pm

Room IMF HQ2 03B-838B

Sponsor: International Monetary Fund

Panelists:

- Nicolas Mombrial (Senior Communications Officer, IMF) (Moderator)
- David Coady (Division Chief, Expenditure Policy, IMF Fiscal Affairs Department)
- Zuzana Murgasova (Assistant Director, IMF Strategy, Policy and Review Department)
- Miriam Brett (International Finance Project Manager, Bretton Woods Project)

The Independent Evaluation Office of the IMF published in the summer of 2017 a report on the IMF and social protection. The report indicates that the Fund has made progress in advancing its engagement on social protection issues, while noting that there is room to do better. One of the key recommendations for the IMF was to establish a new strategic framework on the Fund's engagement on this issue. This town hall type session will provide an opportunity for CSOs to hear about the process towards developing this new framework and for the Fund to consult with CSOs on their views on this issue.
