Permissions and Releases

By submitting an Entry, Participants certify they own or have obtained the necessary permission for any images, charts, statistics, or any other information or material used and submitted to the World Bank Group. Any violation may result in disqualification of the Entry. Participants are responsible for protecting their proprietary and other rights under applicable laws.

Anonymous Entries

Participants that submit Entries anonymously will be disqualified.

Judging Process

1. Entries will initially be screened by a Youth Summit/ World Bank Group Technical Committee (the “Technical Committee”). The Technical Committee will verify that the Participants meet the Eligibility Requirements and that Entries comply with the Submission Rules.

2. All Entries that pass the Technical Committee screening will be judged by an Expert Committee (“Expert Committee”) composed of World Bank Group, public sector, private sector, academic sector and/or NGO sector professionals. The Expert Committee will shortlist up to 20 Proposals (“Shortlisted Proposals”). The selection of the Shortlisted Proposals will be done based on the Judging Criteria.

3. Participants who have submitted the Shortlisted Proposals may be required to submit additional information, refine/revise their Proposals and/or submit short ‘pitching’ videos. Considering the additional information and/or material received – if any has been required – the Expert Committee will select up to 6 Proposals (“Finalist Proposals”) amongst the Shortlisted Proposals. The selection of the Finalist Proposals will be based on the Judging Criteria. Participants who have submitted the Finalist Proposals (“Finalists”) will proceed to the Competition’s next stage. Finalists may be required to submit additional information, refine/revise their Proposals, and/or submit short ‘pitching’ videos (if not asked earlier in the process), in preparation for the Competition’s next stage.

4. During the Youth Summit 2017, taking place at the World Bank Group Headquarters, Washington DC, on December 4 and 5, 2017, Finalists will present their Proposals in front of the Judging Panel (“Presentations”). The Presentations will be delivered in front of an audience and will be live-streamed. Out of the Finalists, two Winners will be determined at the issue of Presentations:

- One Winner will be selected by the Judging Panel. The Judging Panel will make its decision based on the Judging Criteria, during a deliberation process at the issue of Presentations.
- Another Winner (“People’s Choice Winner”) will be determined by the greatest number of votes of attendees to the Youth Summit 2017.

If the People’s Choice Winner is the same as the Winner selected by the Judging Panel, the People’s Choice Winner will be given to the second Presentation that gathered more votes from the attendees.

If a Participant (individual or team) receives irregular votes, the World Bank Group reserves the right to disqualify the Participant (individual or team) in its sole discretion. If the voting process for the People’s Choice Winner fails to operate properly or appears to be tampered with or tainted with errors, fraud or unfair practices, the World Bank Group to its sole discretion reserves the right to use another means to determine the People’s Choice Winner, i.e. random selection or appointing a panel of judges. Participants may not pay people or provide any other type of consideration in exchange for votes. Any Participant (individual or team) who violates the ban on paying or providing consideration in exchange for votes will be disqualified.

Decisions of the Technical Committee, Expert Committee and Judging Panel are final and not subject to negotiations, challenge, or appeal.

Judging Panel

The Judging Panel will be composed of World Bank Group, public sector, private sector, academia, and/or NGO/civil society sector professionals working in the field of business, development, education, gender, fragility/conflict, innovation and/or technology.

The exact composition of the Judging Panel will be determined by the World Bank Group and the YSOC.

The World Bank Group reserves the right to substitute or modify members of the Judging Panel at any time for any reason.

Judging Criteria

The judging of the Proposals and the Presentations will be based on the following equally weighted criteria:

1. Clarity, scope and relevance of the problem and of the proposed solution. (a) The Proposal/ Presentation clearly defines and describes the Sustainable Development Goal it will support and the specific problem or need it seeks to address and outlines why it is an important issue to be addressed. (b) The Proposal/Presentation provides a clear, well-articulated, and compelling solution to address the identified problem.

2. Innovation and originality. (a) The proposed solution is innovative – it brings some novelty by tackling a problem that has not been addressed yet, in any given context, or by offering a new and improved way to address an existing problem. (b) The approach is forward-thinking and encourages further thought, action and/or inspiration.

3. Feasibility and sustainability of implementation. The Proposal/Presentation demonstrates that the solution has the potential to be turned into a viable and sustainable project, business, initiative, or policy/program: the implementation strategy clearly outlines the activities that are needed to successfully implement the solution; the objectives are realistic, achievable and sustainable throughout time; given the resources that have been identified and the (proposed) budget, potential obstacles are identified, including suggested ways to address them.

4. Potential for impact. (a) The Proposal/Presentation clearly identifies what Sustainable Development Goal(s) it will support and the specific social and/or economic benefit(s) the solution will deliver. (b) The Proposal suggests a clear approach to assess and measure the success and impact of the project, business, initiative, or policy/program. (c) The proposed solution has the potential to effectively achieve the desired impact, in a sustainable manner, and to be scaled and/or replicated.

These Judging Criteria apply both to the selection of Shortlisted Entries and Finalist Entries by the Expert Committee, and to the selection of the Winner by the Judging Panel.

In the event of a tie:

- For Shortlisted Entries and Finalist Entries, the selection will be done by comparing scores received on the individual above-listed criteria, in the following order: (1) Clarity, scope and relevance of the problem and of the proposed solution; then (2) Innovation and originality; then (3) Feasibility of implementation; and finally, (4) Potential for impact. If there is still a tie, the Proposals will be selected based on a new vote by the Expert Committee.
- For Presentations, the selection will be done by comparing scores received on the individual above-listed criteria, in the following order: (1) Potential for impact; then (2) Feasibility of implementation; then (3) Innovation and originality; and finally, (4) Clarity, scope and relevance of the problem and of the proposed solution.

Prizes and Recognition

Winners will receive in-kind prizes. Details will be announced at a later stage.

The World Bank Group is neither accountable nor responsible for any of the prizes awarded. Winners are responsible for all applicable taxes and fees associated with prize receipt and/or use. No transfer or substitution of a prize is permitted.

Use of cookies. When User registers on C4D, the Site sets a cookie on the User's computer's hard drive that enables User to manage his subscriptions and online profile. By setting this cookie, C4D will remember User the next time User visits and won't have to bother User by asking questions User has already answered (like address information).

However, User is always free to decline our cookies if User's browser permits, although in that case User may not be able to use certain features and may be required to re-enter information more frequently to use certain services on the Site.

IP Addresses. The Sites record User's IP address and non-personal data such as browser type and operating system. This data helps us learn about the geographical distribution of our Site visitors and the technology they use to access our Site. This data is not connected with the Personal Information User supplies in connection with registration on the Site, except in certain cases of managing errors, in which case, the contents of the http request are captured when there is an error, which is used for troubleshooting. This includes any cookies that are present on the User's computer, the page requested, IP address and browser information, for example.

Security. C4D employs a range of technologies to protect the data maintained on our systems. Despite such undertaking, it is possible for Internet-based communications to be intercepted, subject to unauthorized access, lost, misused, disclosed, modified, forged, destroyed or targeted by cyber-attacks. Therefore, as stated in Section 3, The World Bank cannot ensure that User Content and Information will not be intercepted, subject to unauthorized access, lost, misused, disclosed, modified, destroyed, or targeted by cyber-attack.

Security Notice. The World Bank reserves the right but not the obligation to monitor any Content, where posted on C4D. For Site security purposes and to ensure that this service remains available to all Users, this computer system employs software programs to monitor network traffic to identify unauthorized attempts to upload or change Content, or otherwise cause damage. Unauthorized attempts to upload Content or change Content on this service are strictly prohibited and may be punishable by law. If monitoring reveals evidence of possible criminal activity, such evidence may be provided to law enforcement personnel.

User Names and Passwords. Member accounts, User names and passwords are personal to each User. Users shall not allow any others to use their member account, User name or password under any circumstances. Each User is responsible for guarding his password carefully with the full awareness that a failure to keep his password secure will enable others to engage in transactions for which the User will be legally responsible. Users shall notify immediately The World Bank if they become aware of or believe there is or may have been any unauthorized use of (or activity using) their member account, User name or password or any other need to deactivate their member account, User name or password due to security concerns.
