

THE WORLD BANK GROUP ARCHIVES

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE AUTHORIZED

Folder Title: Country Photographs - Afghanistan - Credit 202 - Photographs - Vol. 2

Folder ID: 30233491

Fonds: Records of Office of External Affairs (WB IBRD/IDA EXT)

Digitized: August 11, 2014

To cite materials from this archival folder, please follow the following format:

[Descriptive name of item], [Folder Title], Folder ID [Folder ID], World Bank Group Archives, Washington, D.C., United States.

The records in this folder were created or received by The World Bank in the course of its business.

The records that were created by the staff of The World Bank are subject to the Bank's copyright.

Please refer to <http://www.worldbank.org/terms-of-use-earchives> for full copyright terms of use and disclaimers.

THE WORLD BANK
Washington, D.C.

© 2012 International Bank for Reconstruction and Development / International Development Association or
The World Bank
1818 H Street NW
Washington DC 20433
Telephone: 202-473-1000
Internet: www.worldbank.org

PUBLIC DISCLOSURE AUTHORIZED

AFGHANISTAN - CR-202

VOL. 2

DECLASSIFIED
WBG Archives

 Archives

 30233491

R2002-110 Other #: 1 217331B

Country Photographs - Afghanistan - Credit 202 - Photographs - Vol. 2

D-202-AF-1

WORLD BANK

1818 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., 20433, U.S.A.

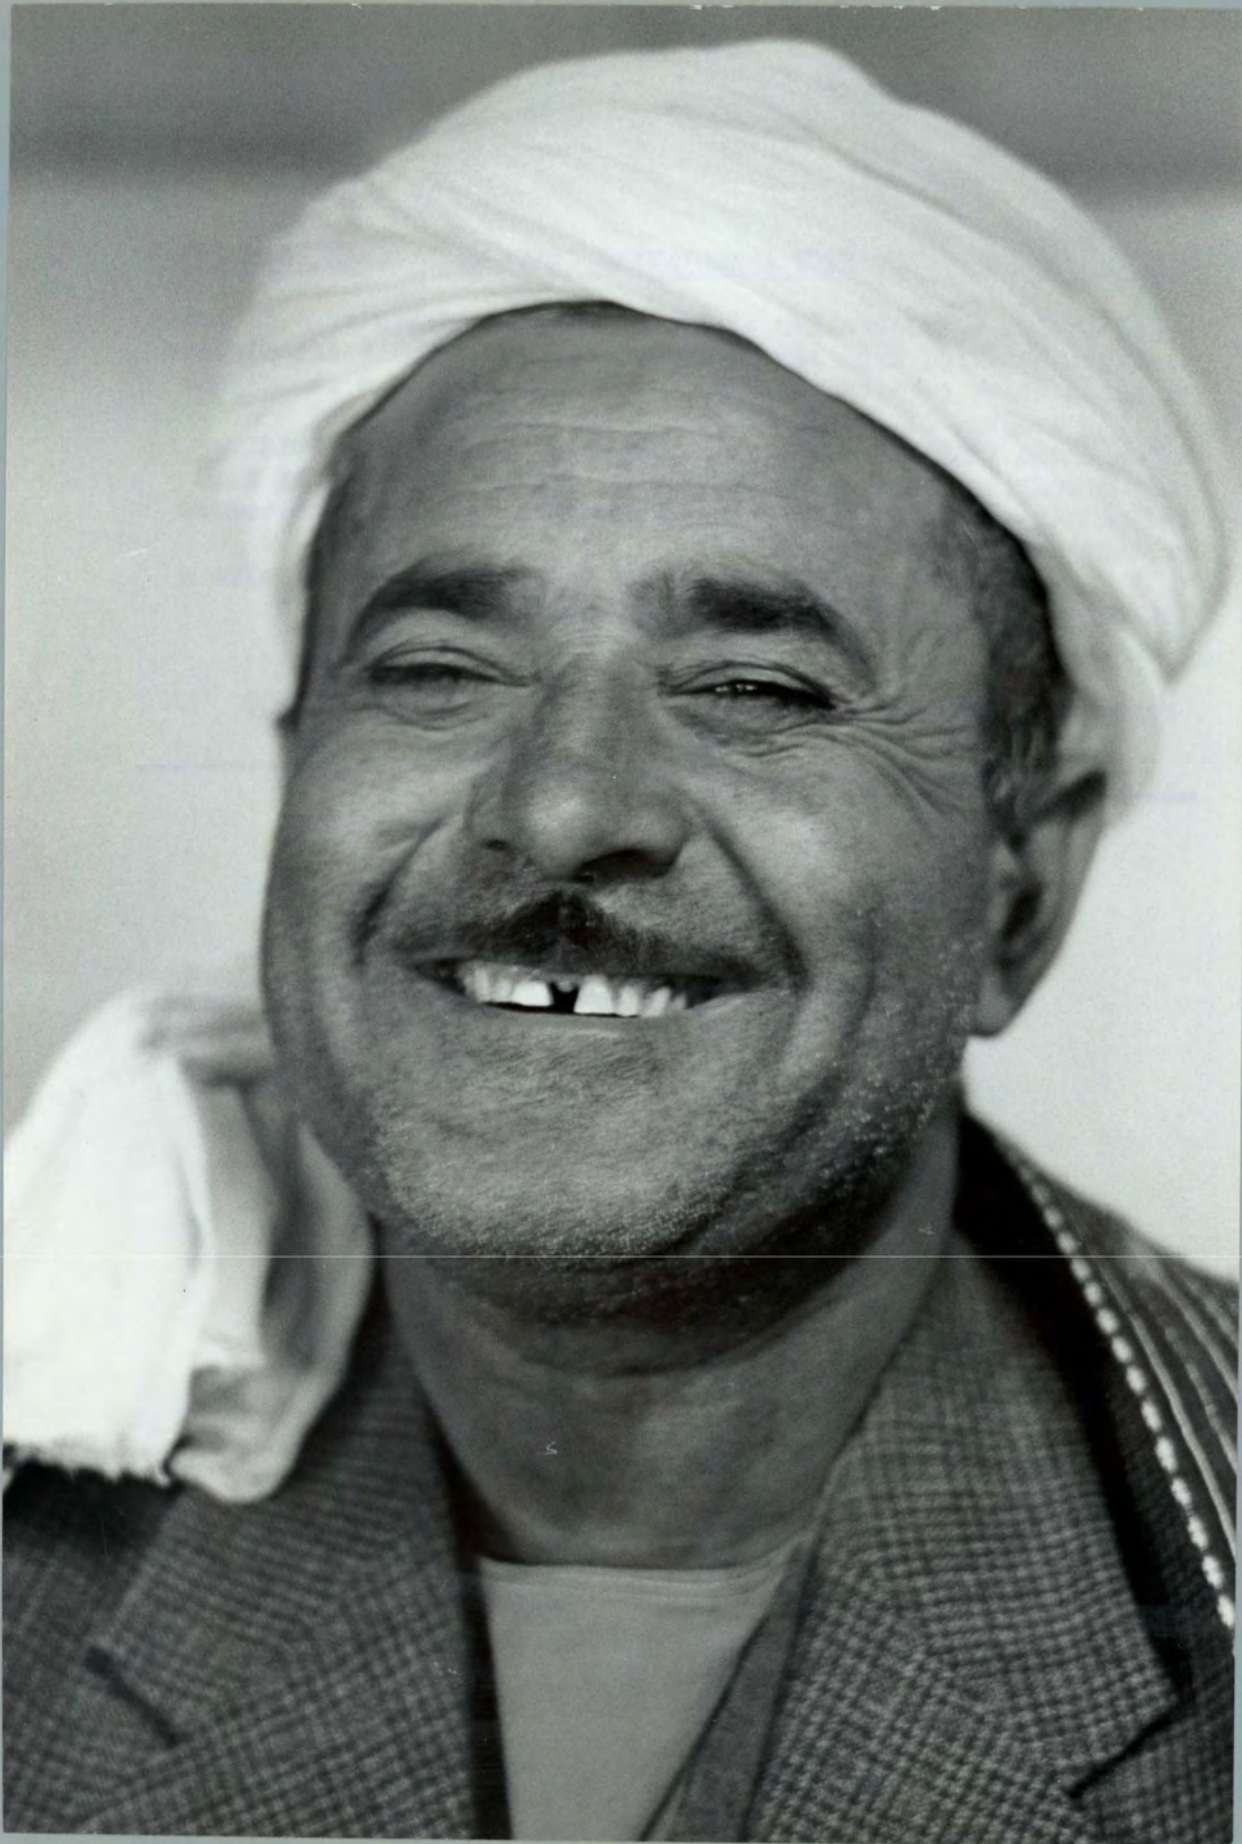

D-202-AF-1 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), an affiliate of the WORLD BANK, a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for the improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Two farmers constructing their basin type irrigation in the traditional manner in the Kandahar Province of Afghanistan.

Please credit: WORLD BANK PHOTO by Kay Muldoon.

1970

D-202-AF-10

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

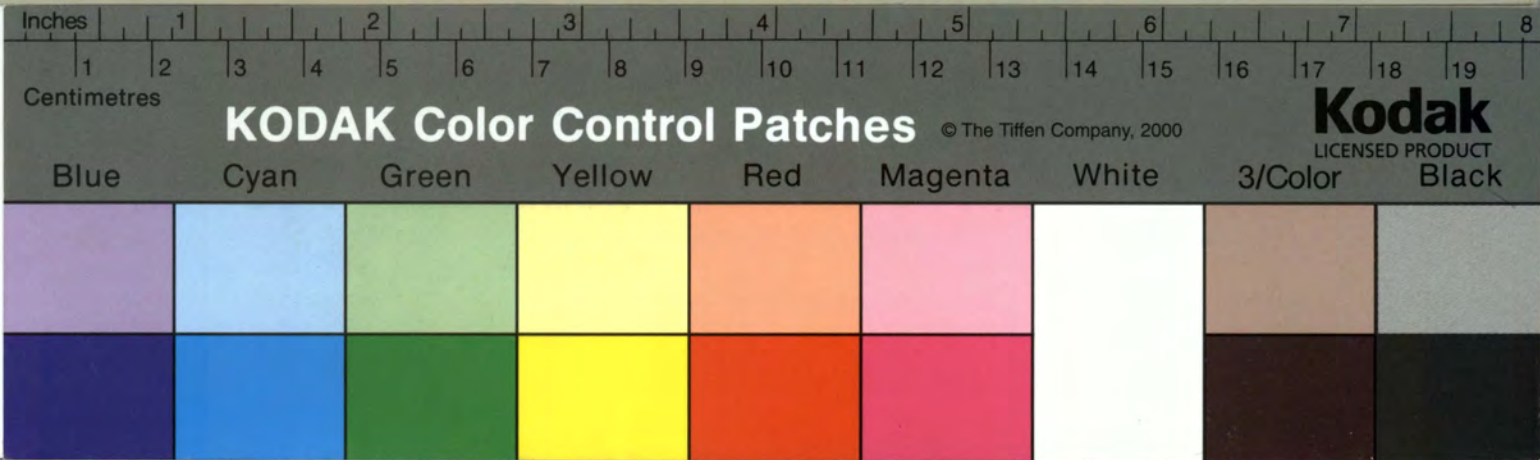

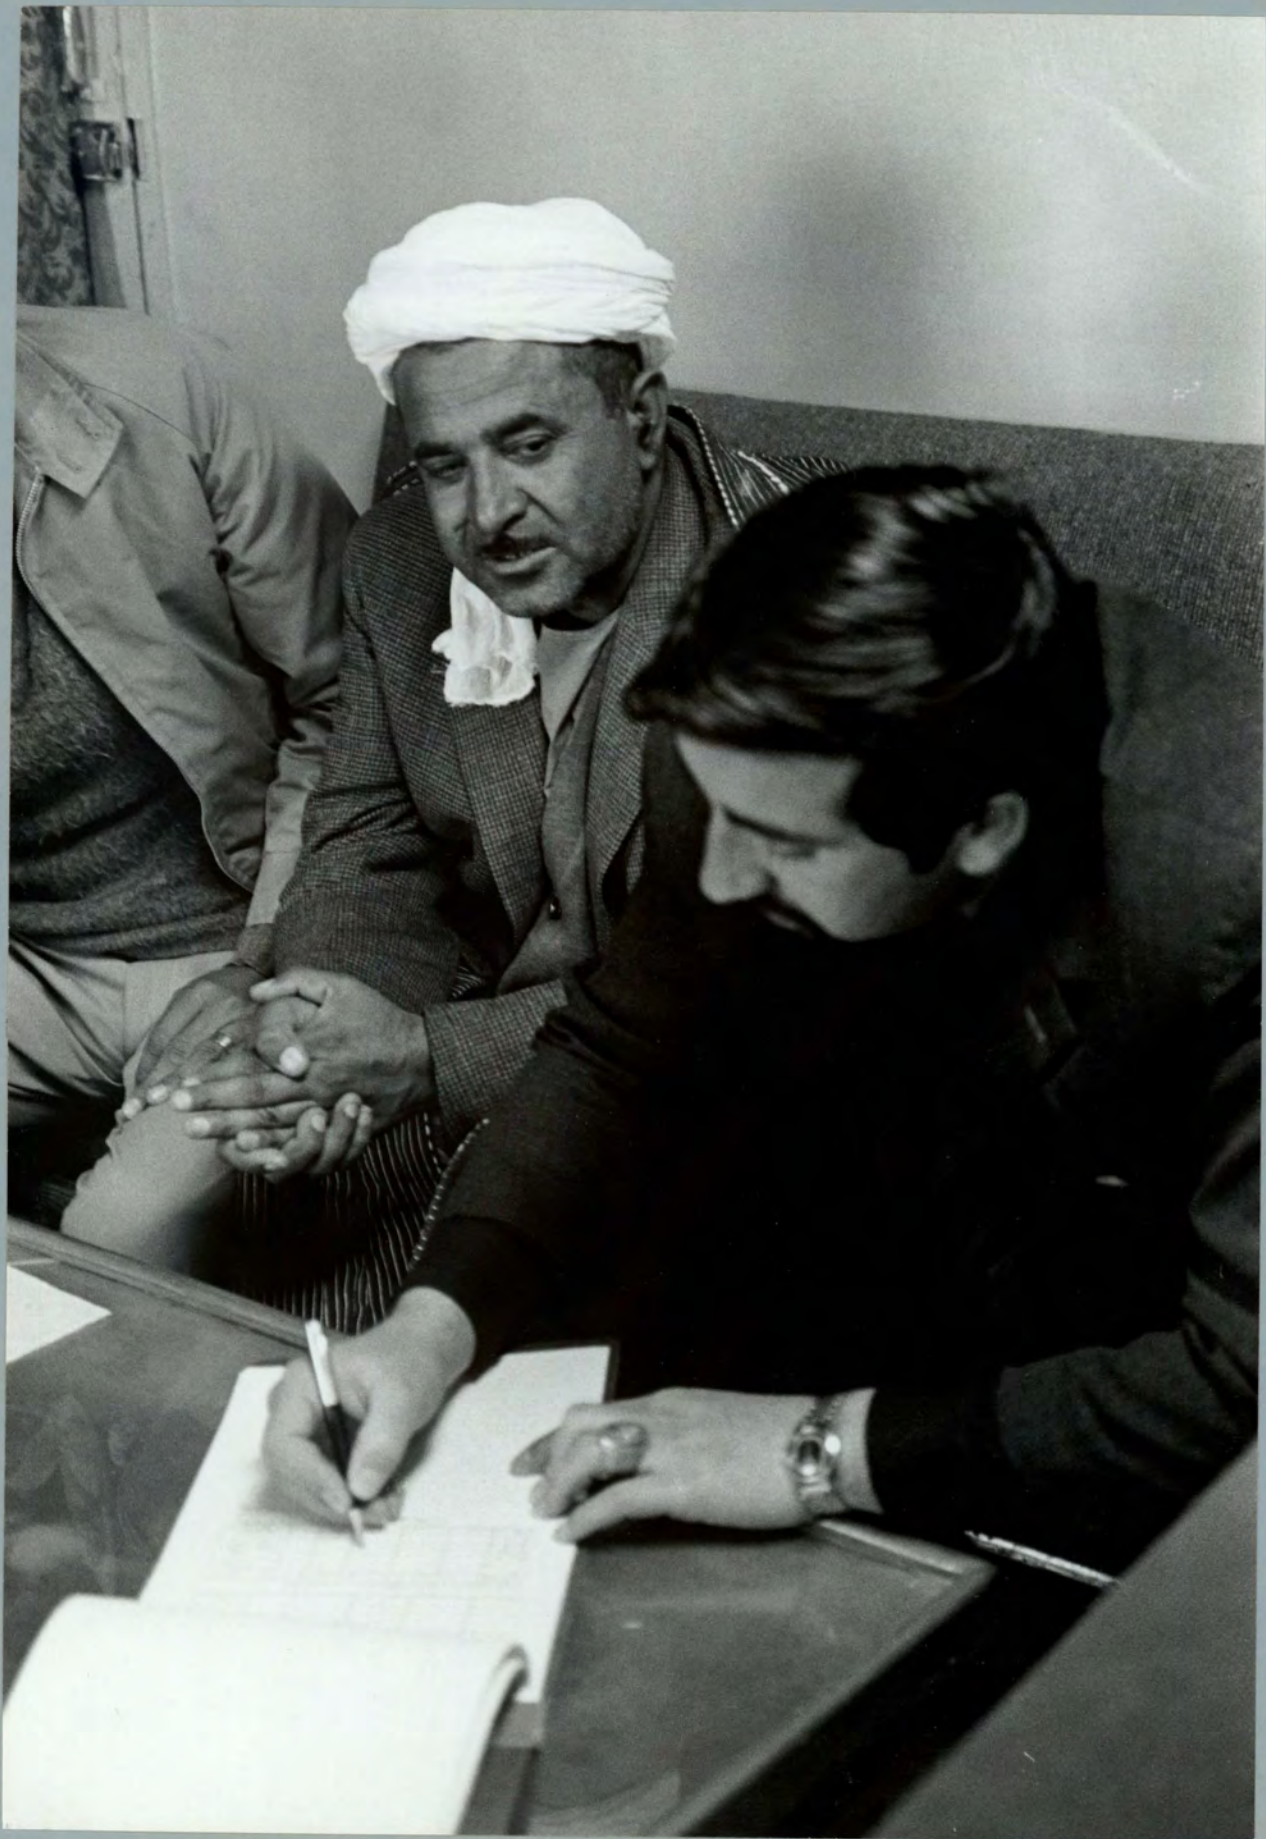

D-202-AF-10 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Abdul Kayum, one of the first farmers to receive a tractor through the Agricultural Credit Bank.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-12

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-12 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Abdul Kayum (left), a farmer from Arghandab Kandahar Province, submits his application for a tractor at the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA

D-202-AF-15

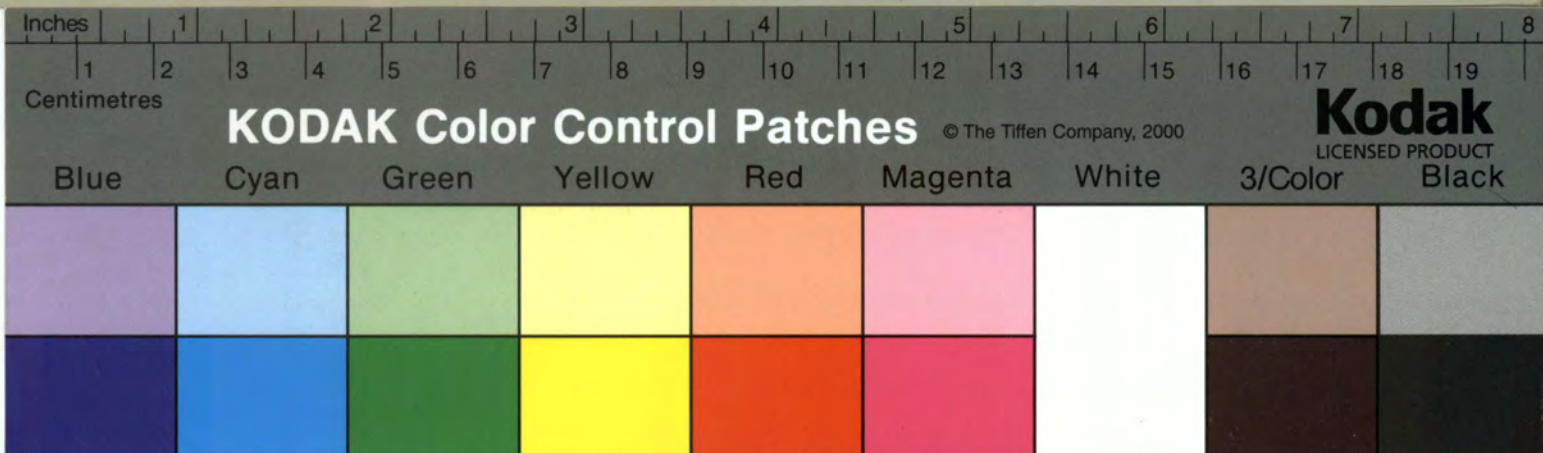

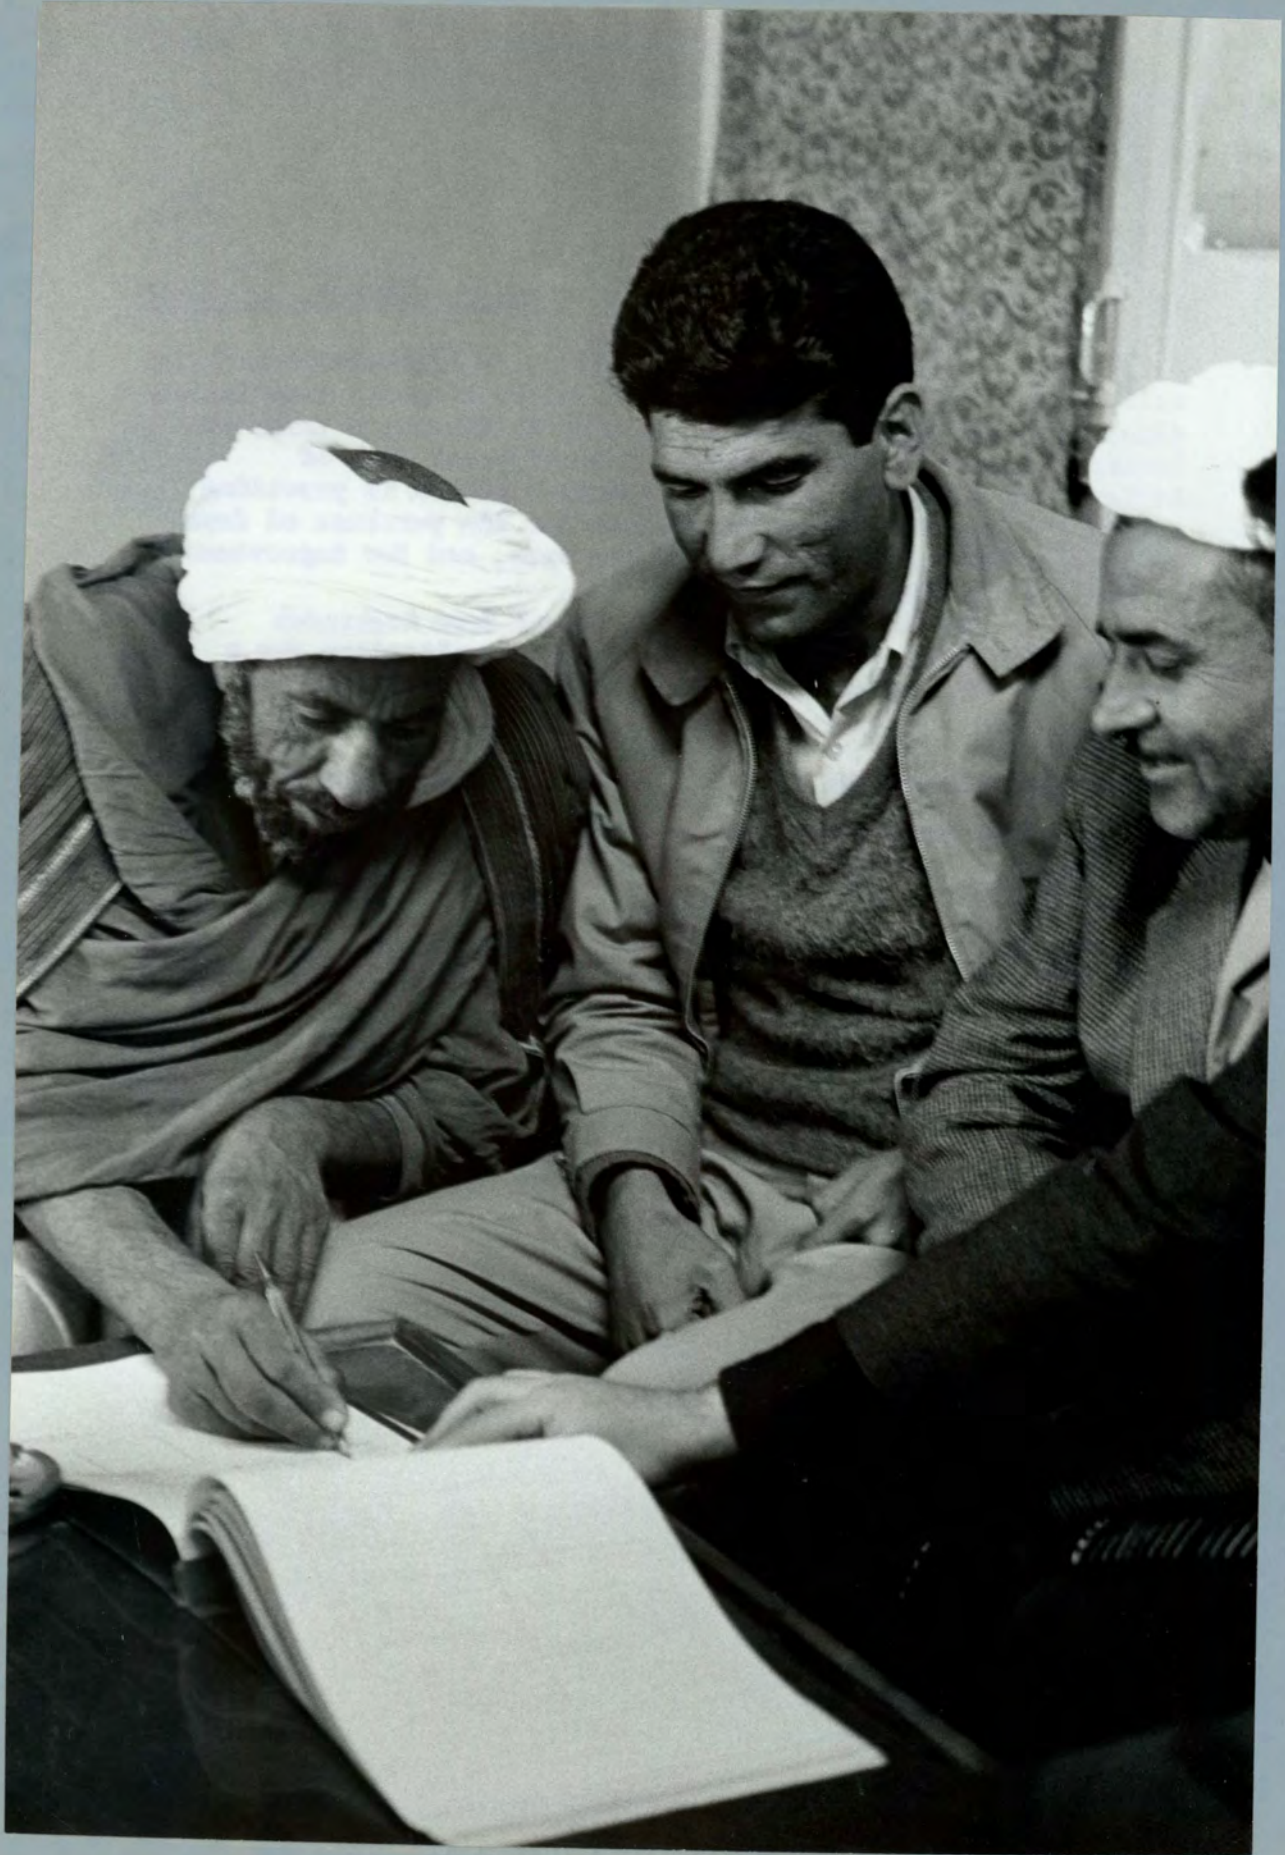

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), Washington, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-15 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Here, Abdul Kayum submits his application for a tractor at the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

D-202-AF-16

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

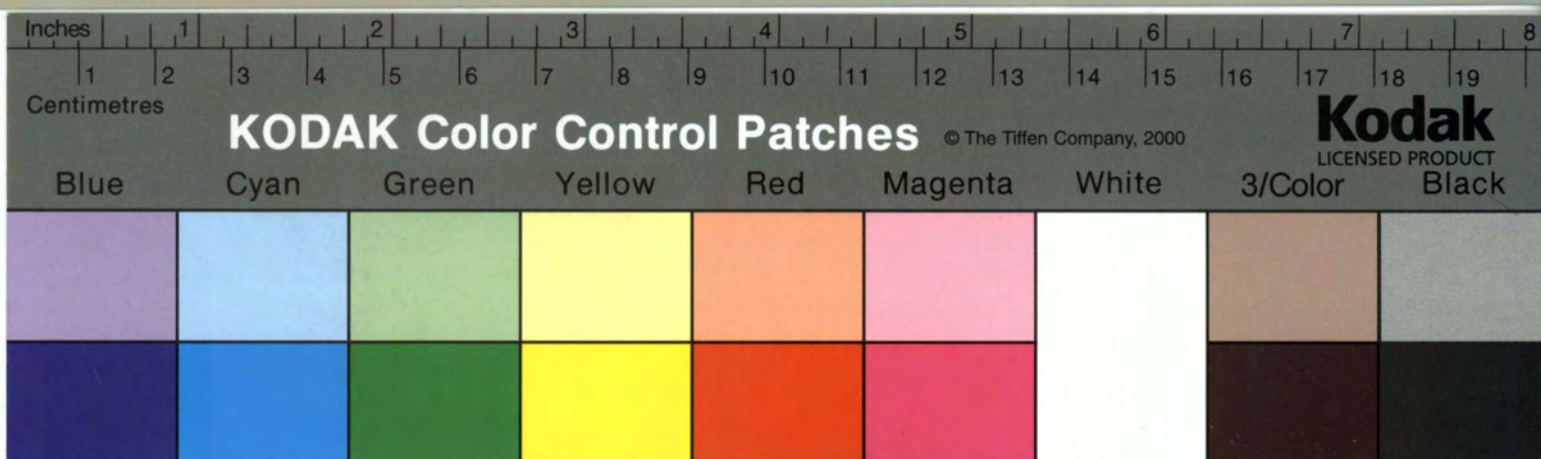

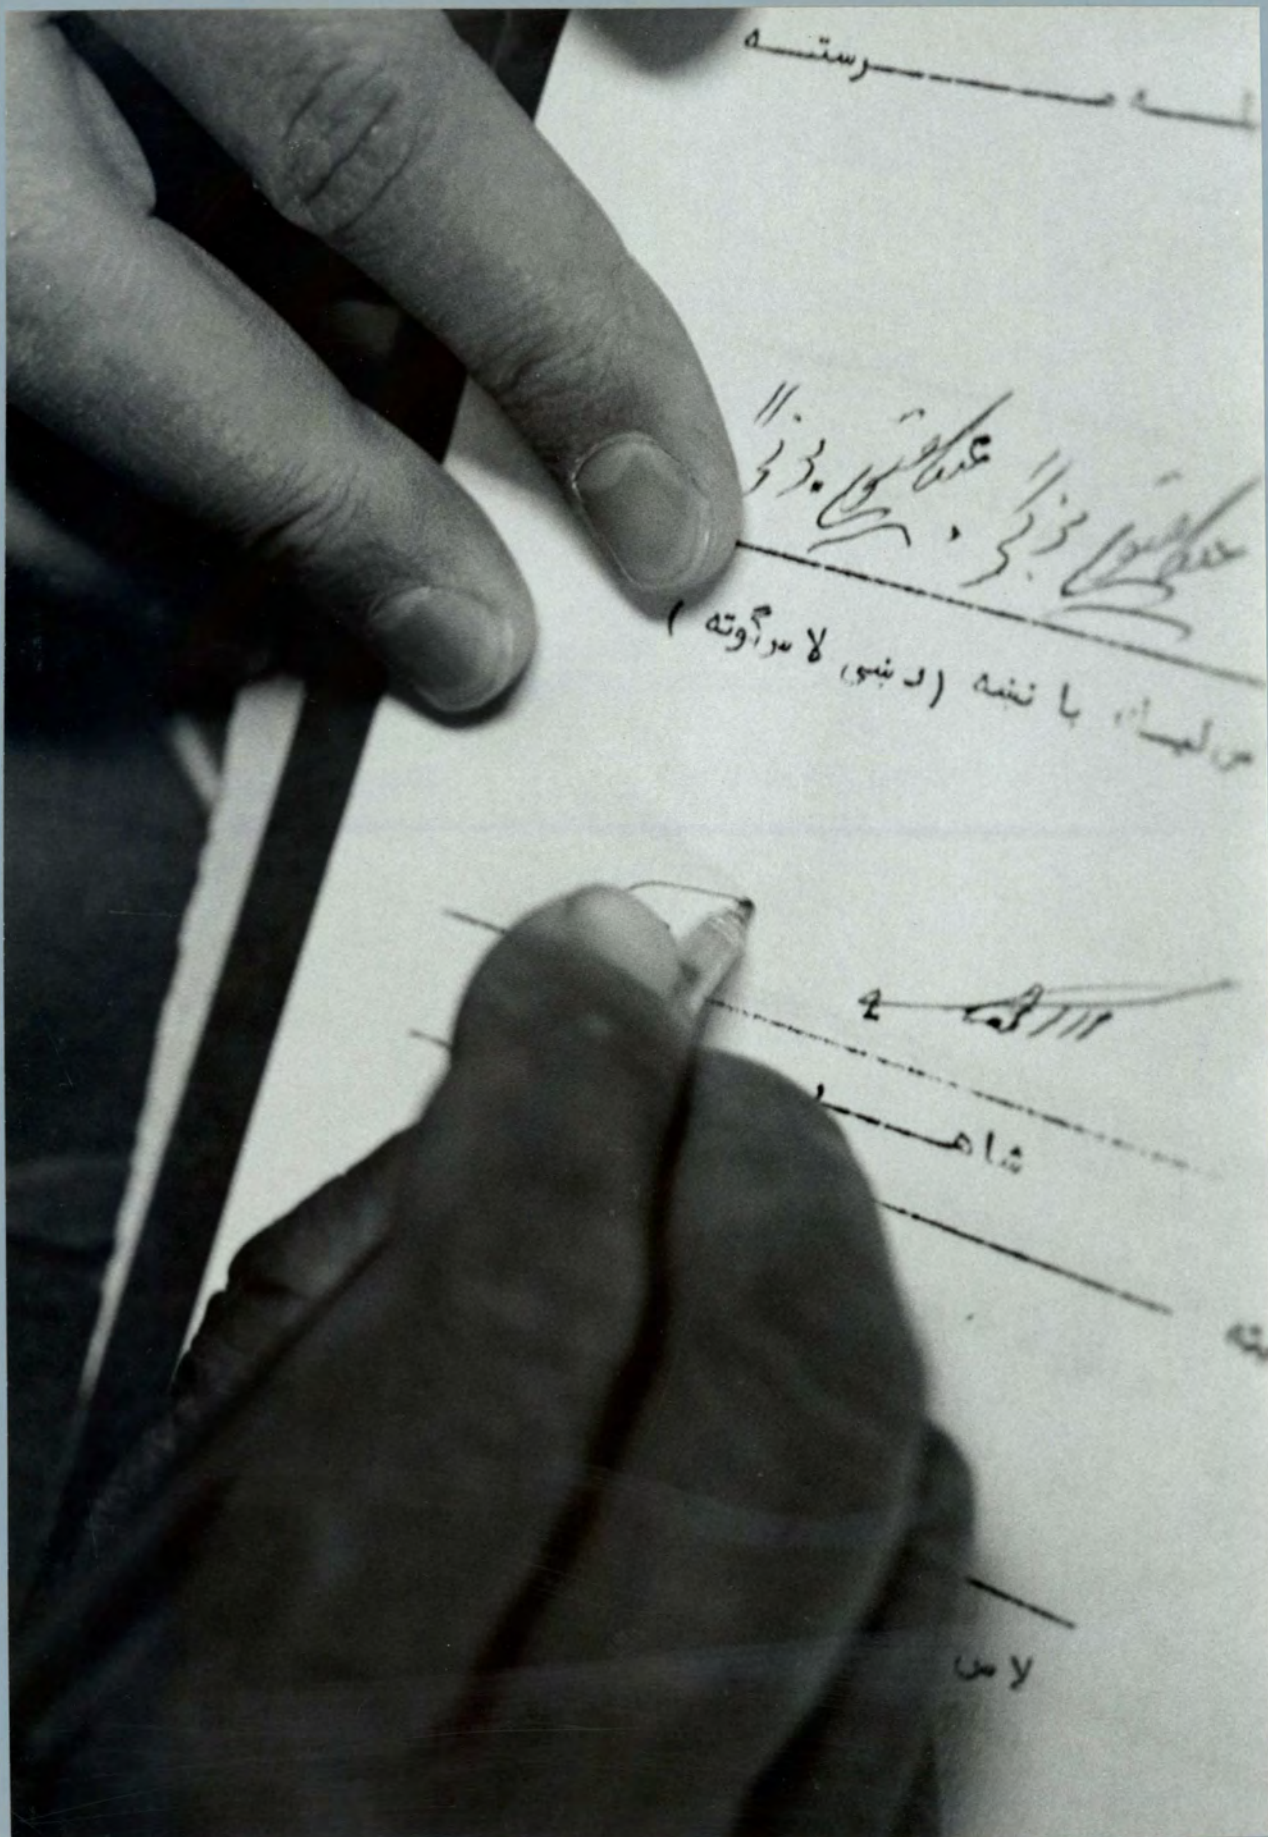

D-202-AF-16 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Abdul Kayum (right), a farmer from Arghandab Kandahar Province, has a witness sign his application for a tractor at the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-14

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

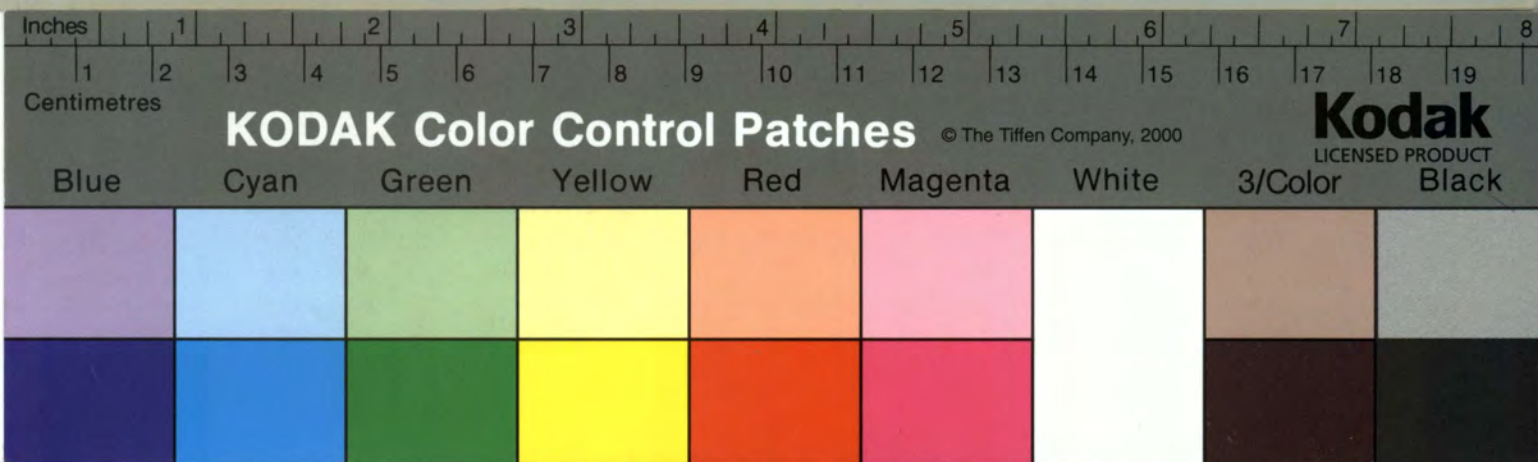

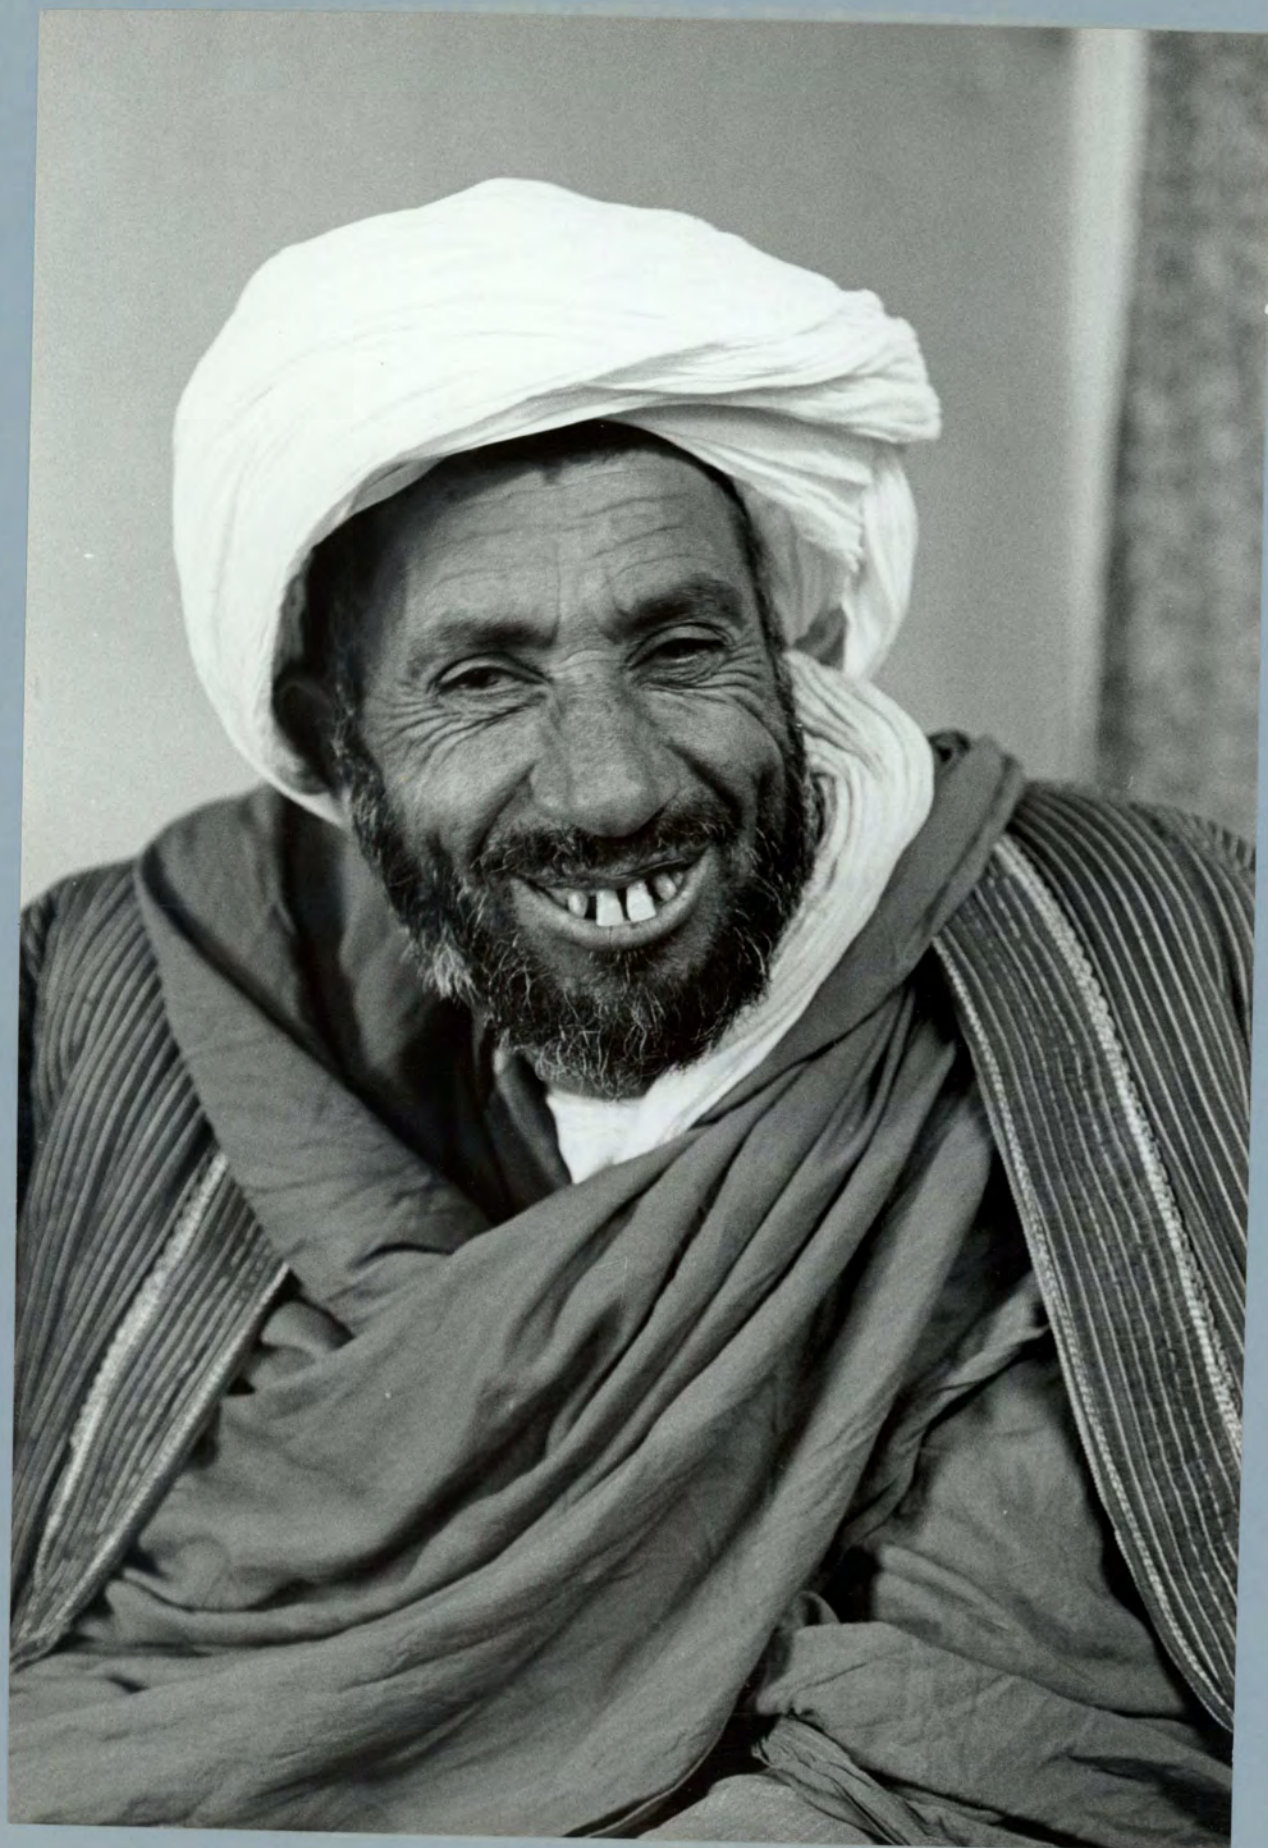

D-202-AF-17 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Signing an application for a tractor, Abdul Kayum, a farmer from Arghandab Kandahar Province, has the village chief sign as one of his witnesses.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-18

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

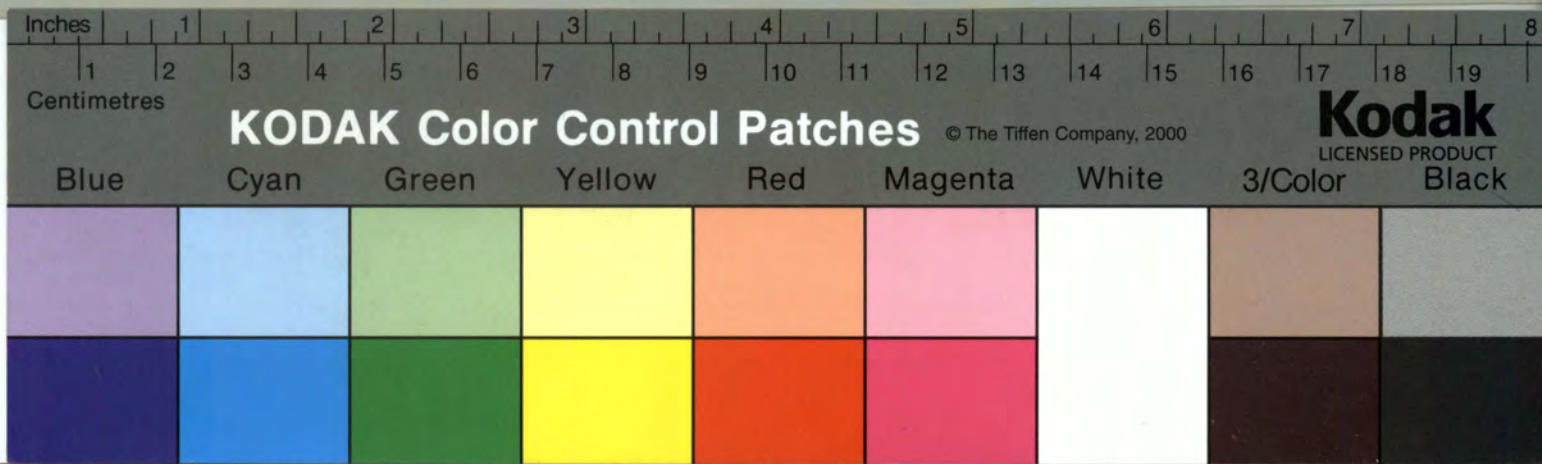

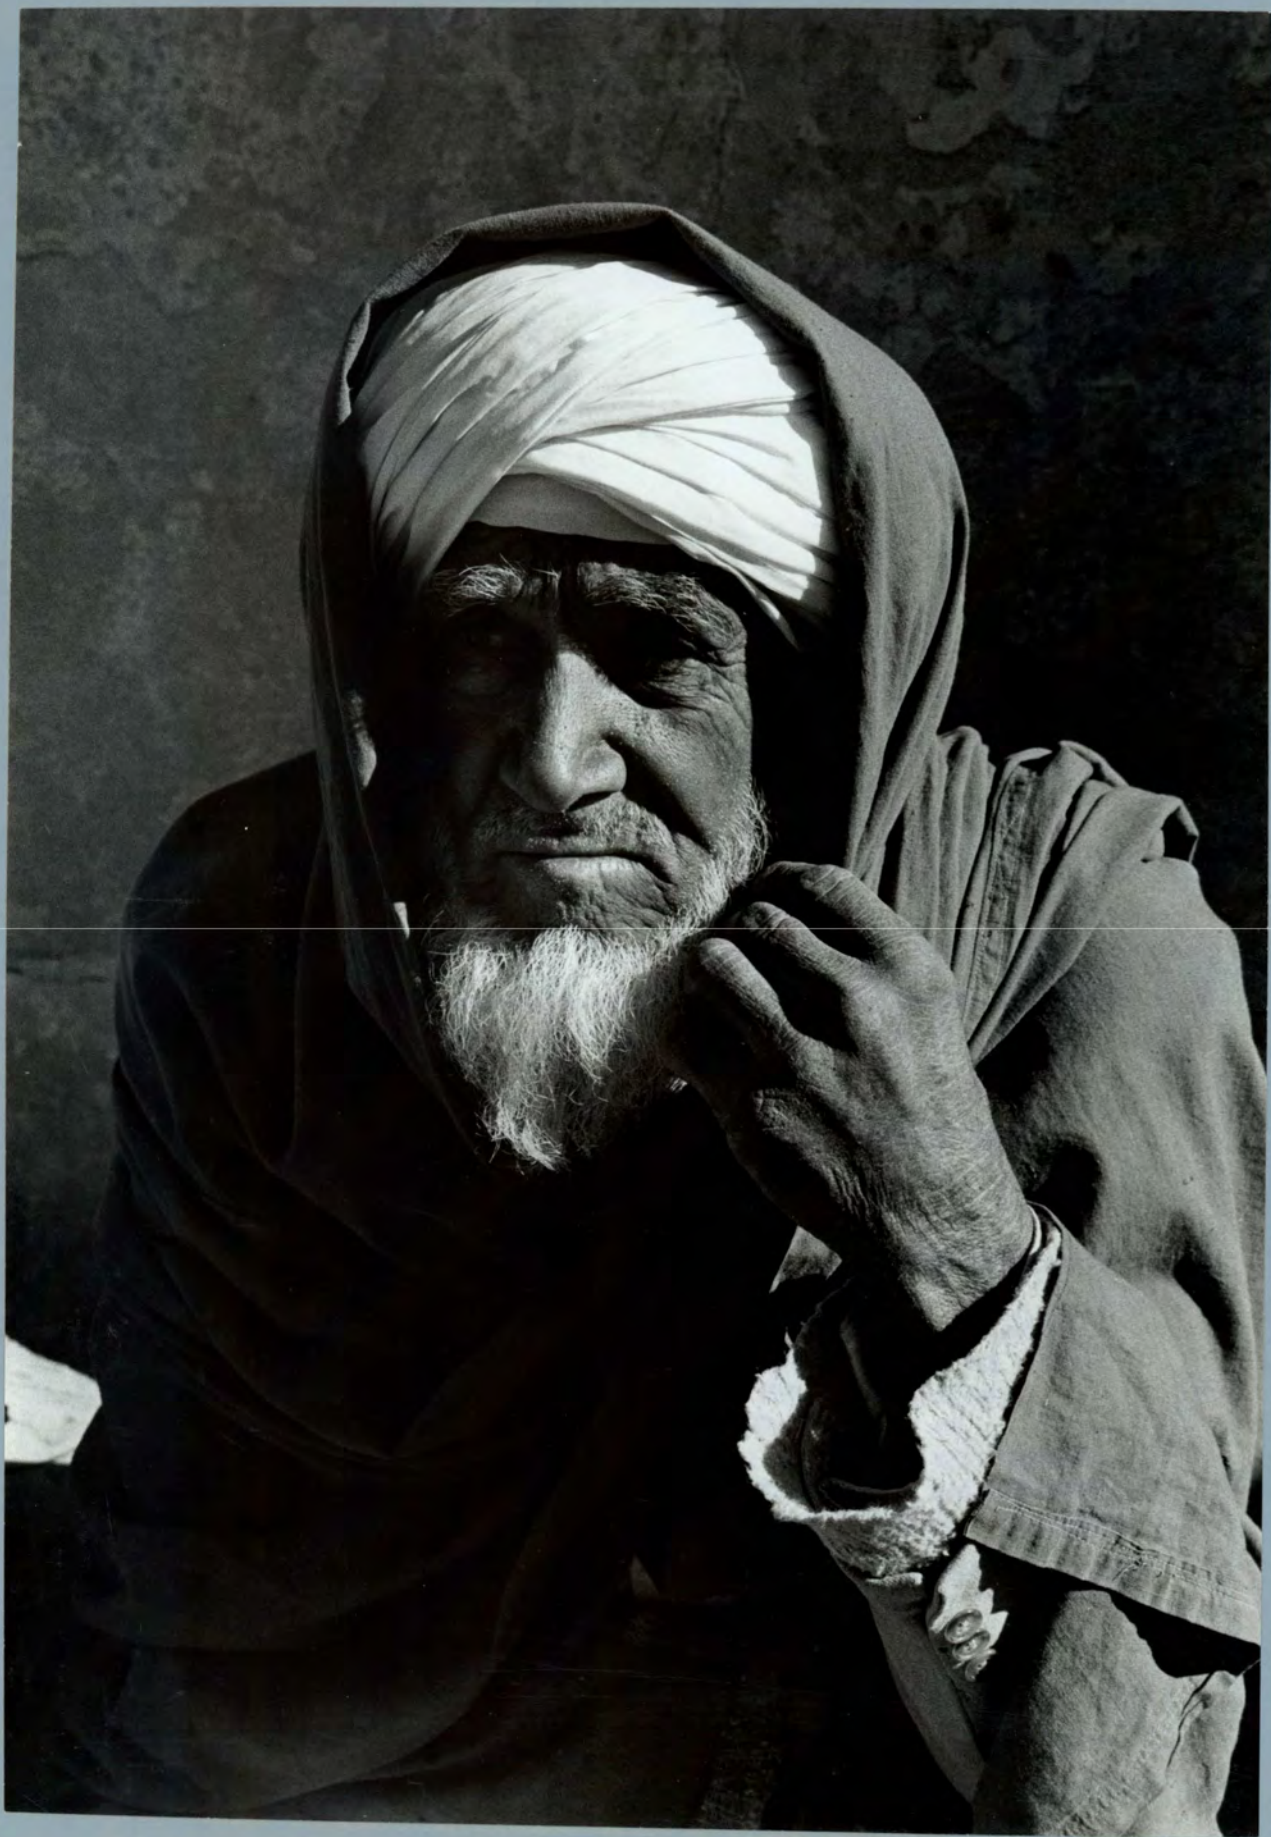

D-202-AF-18 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

The village chief in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-22

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

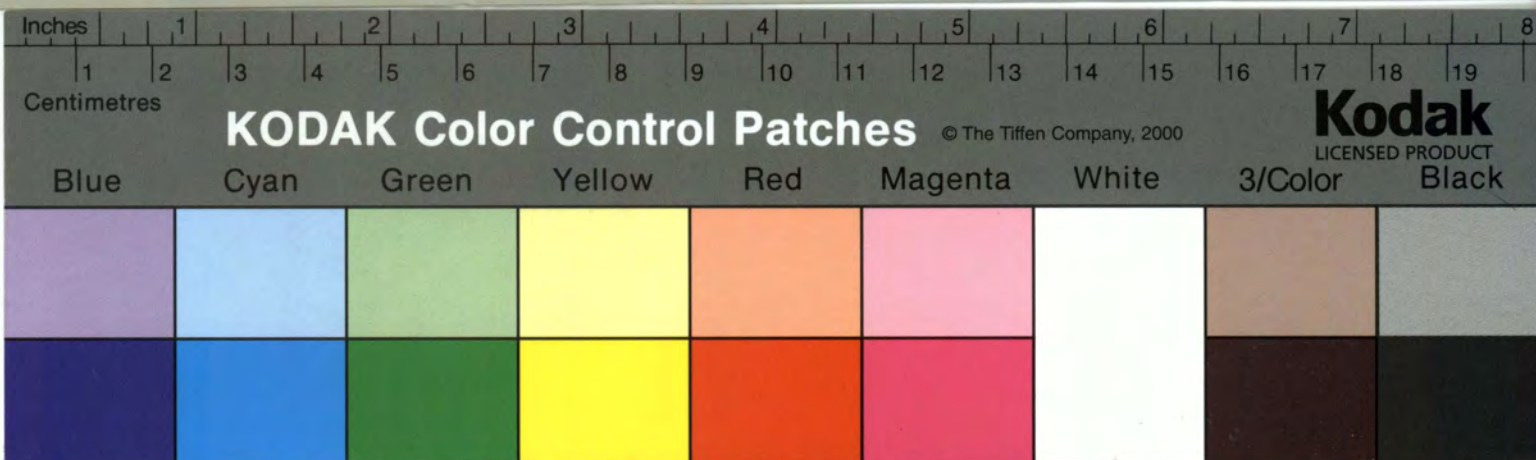

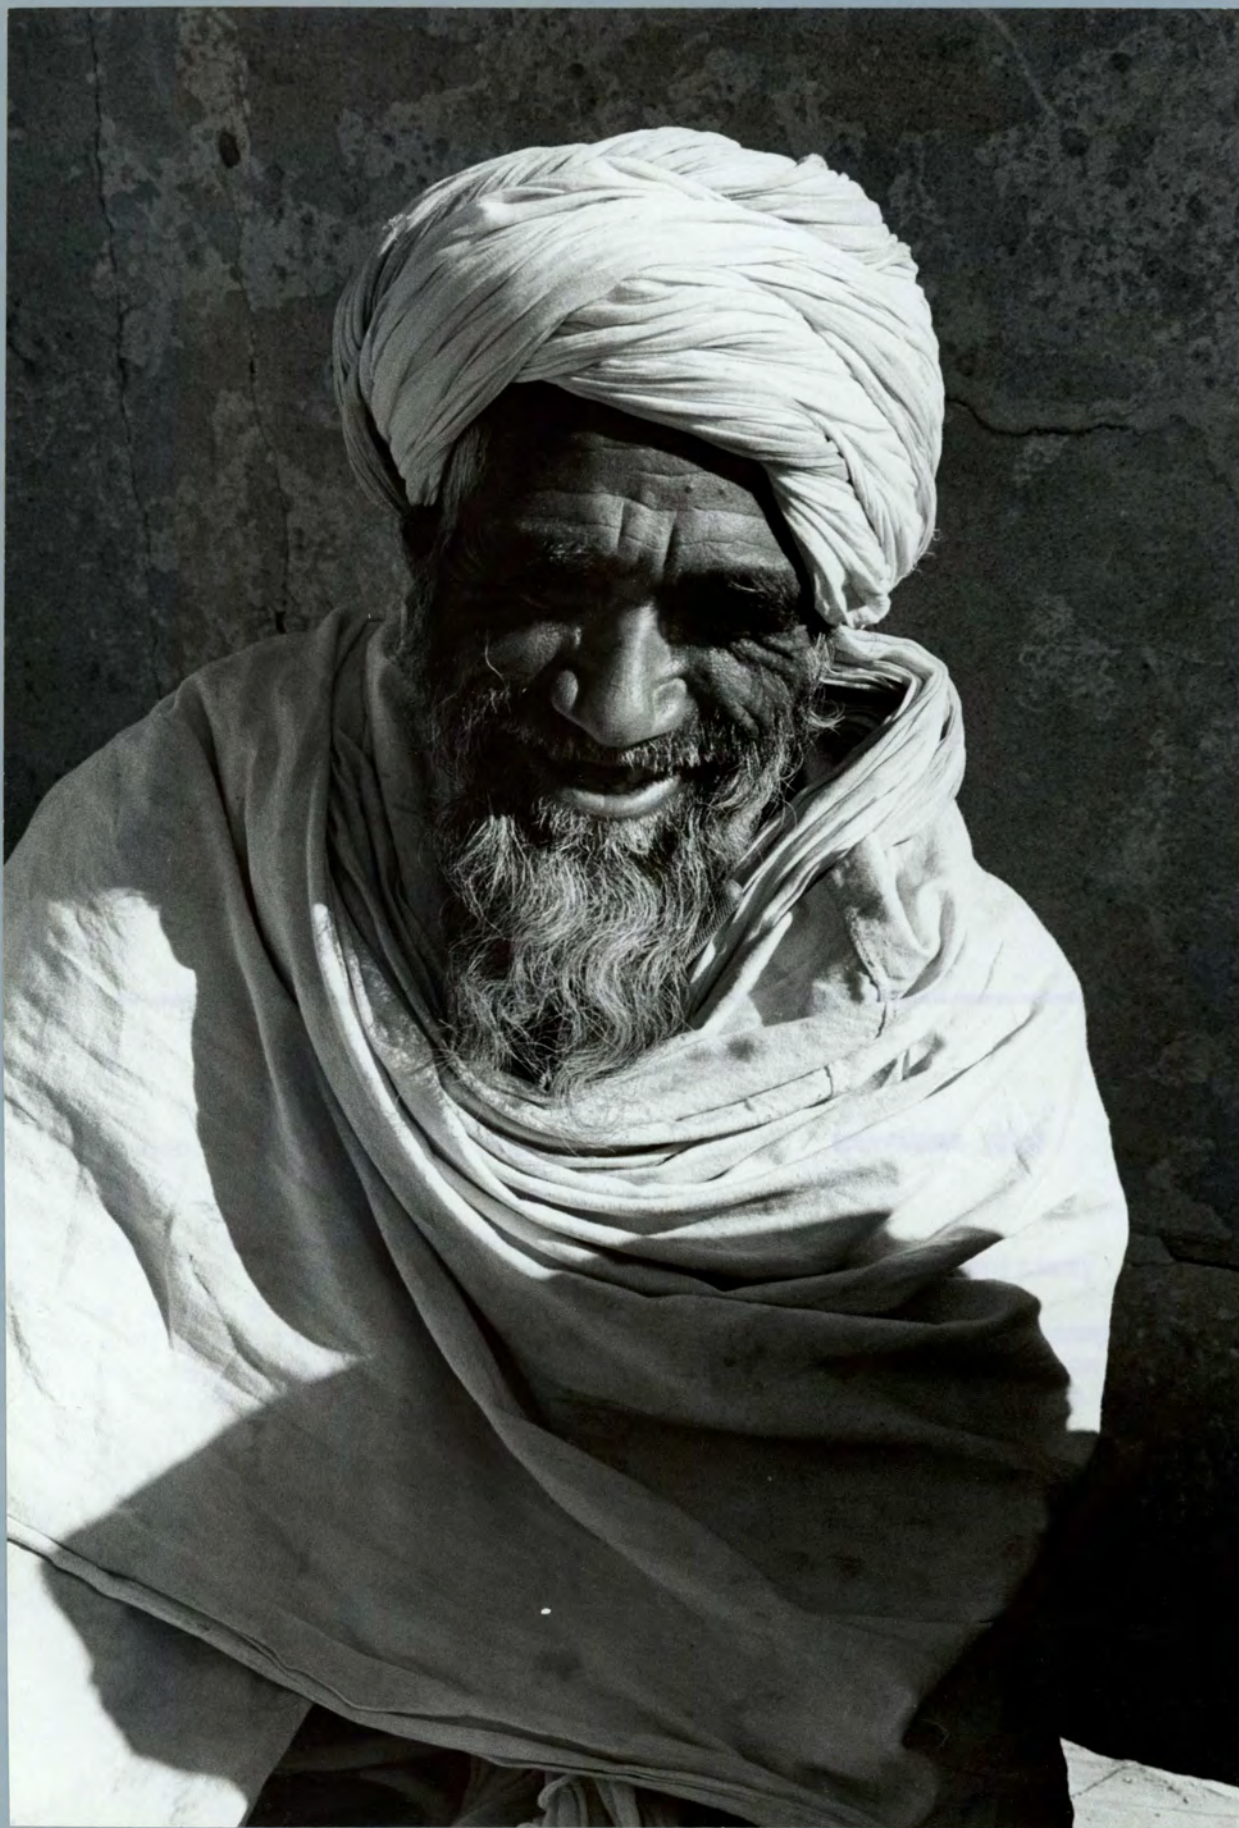

D-202-AF-22 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

An Afghan farmer relaxes outside the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-23

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

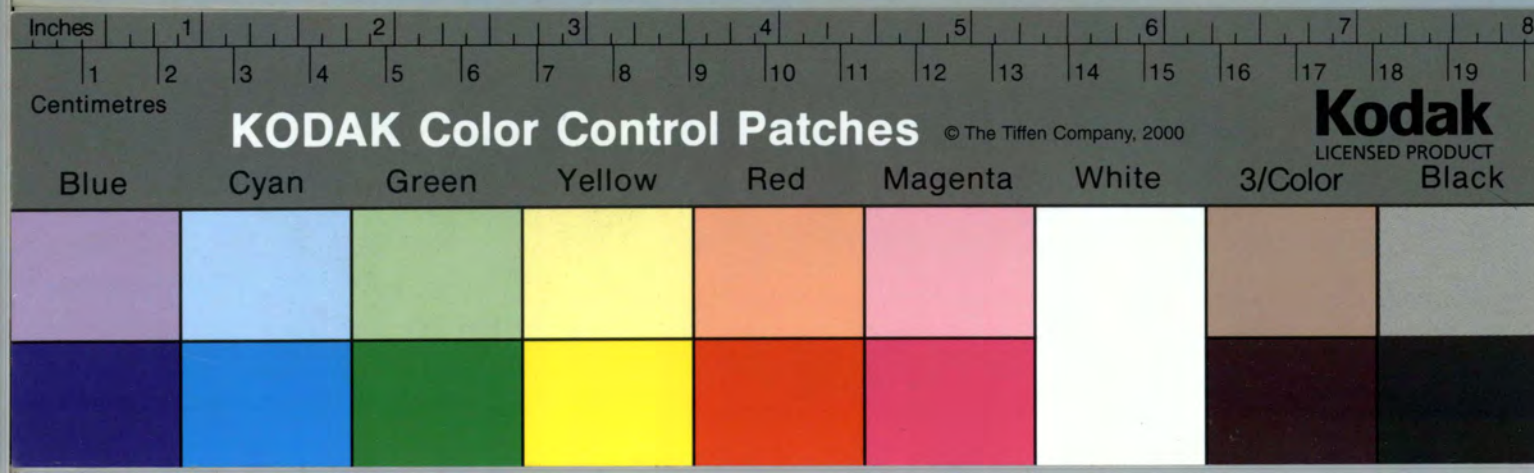

D-202-AF-23 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

An Afghan farmer relaxes outside the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D. 202. AF. 26

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), Washington, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-26 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

An Afghan farmer, Abdul Kayum, smiles happily at the uncrating of his new tractor which he is buying through the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

D-202-AF-29

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

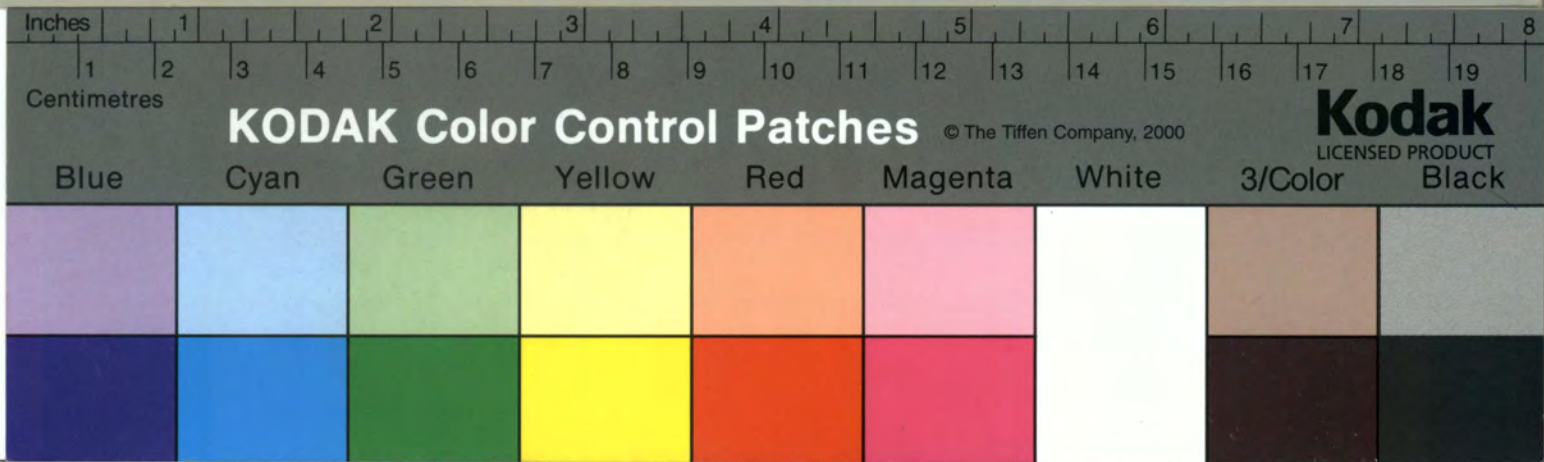

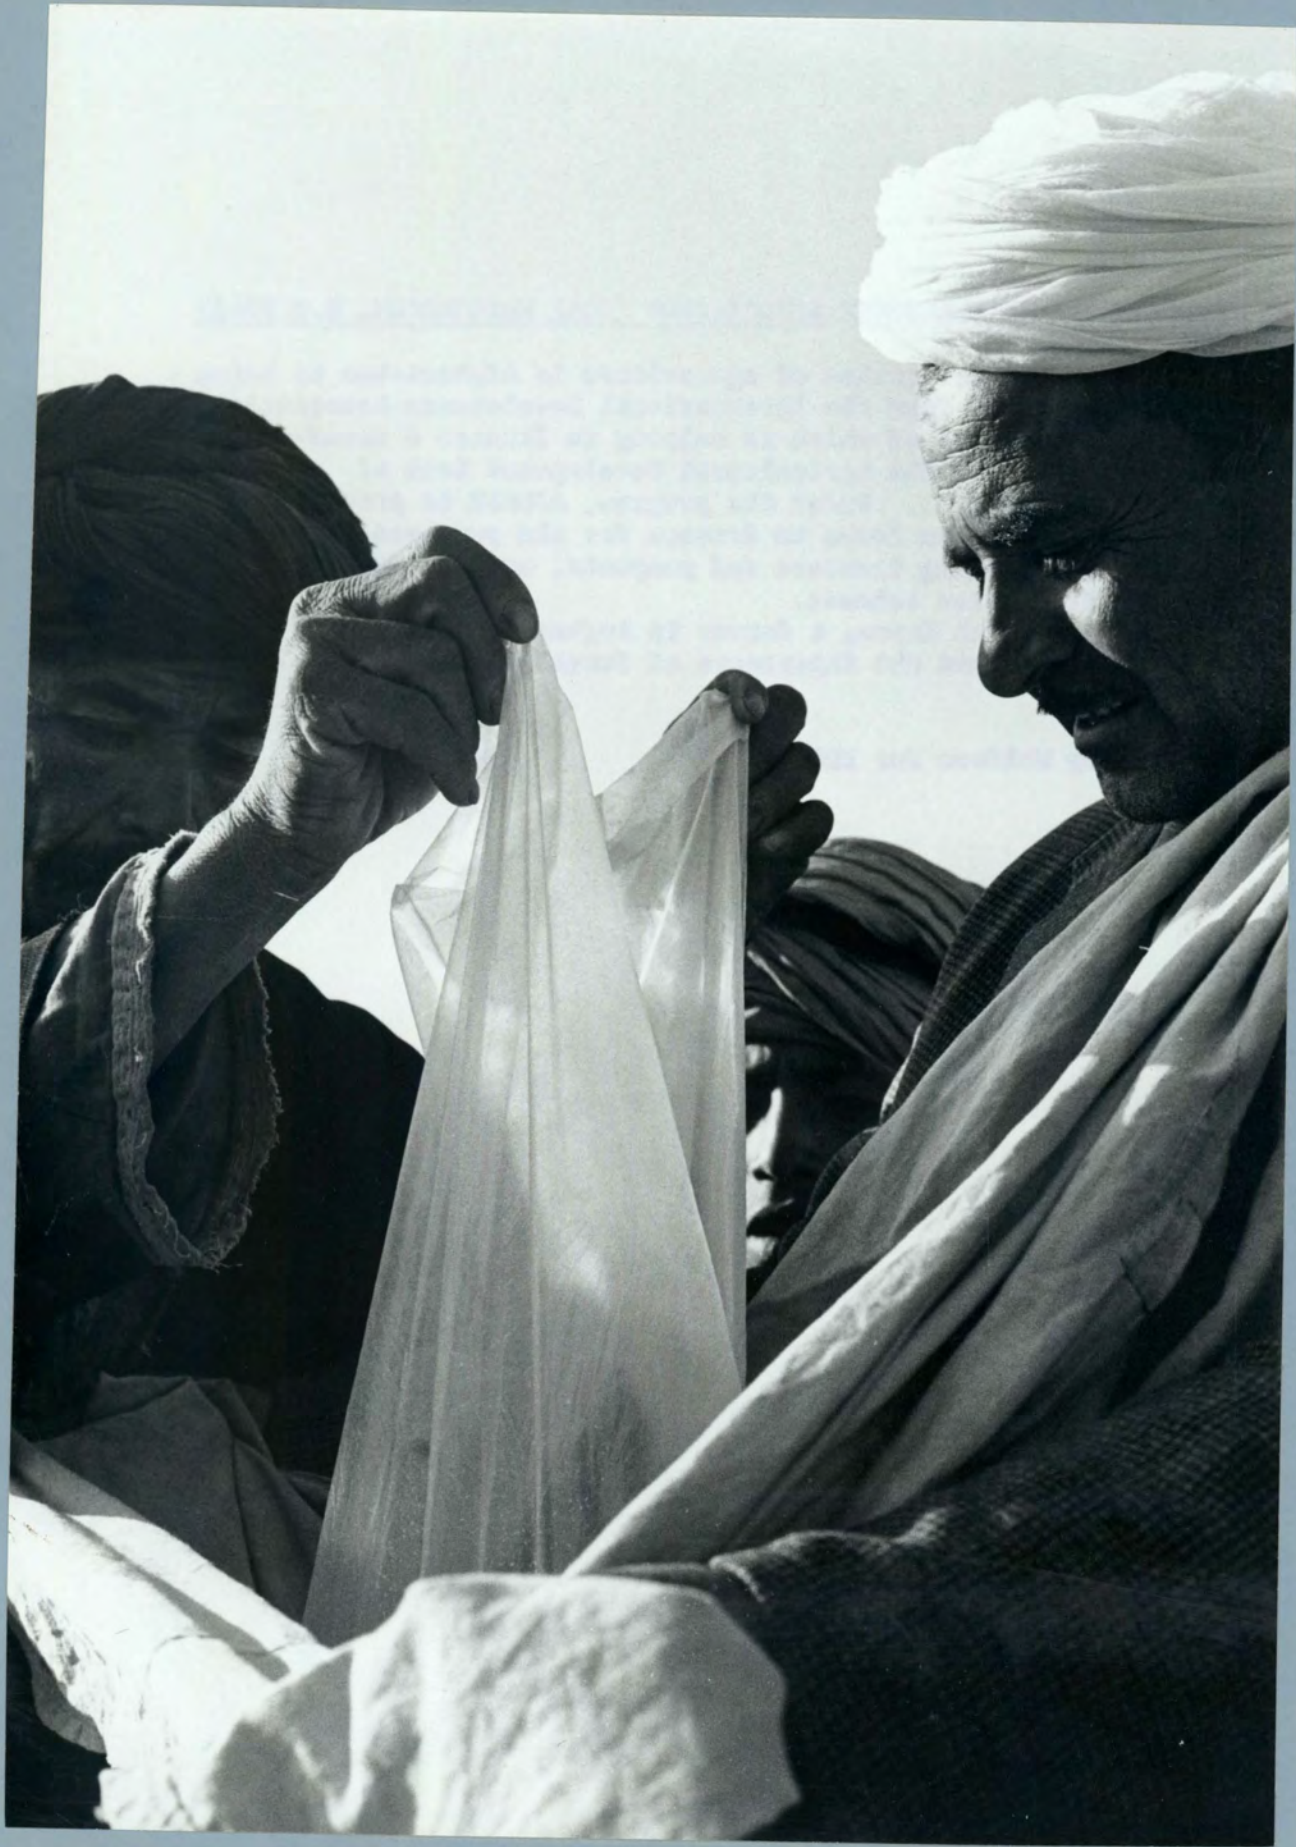

D-202-AF-29 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Abdul Kayum, a farmer in Arghandab Kandahar Province, spreading fertilizer on his farm. He realizes the importance of fertilizer and can now buy it through the AGBANK.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-30

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

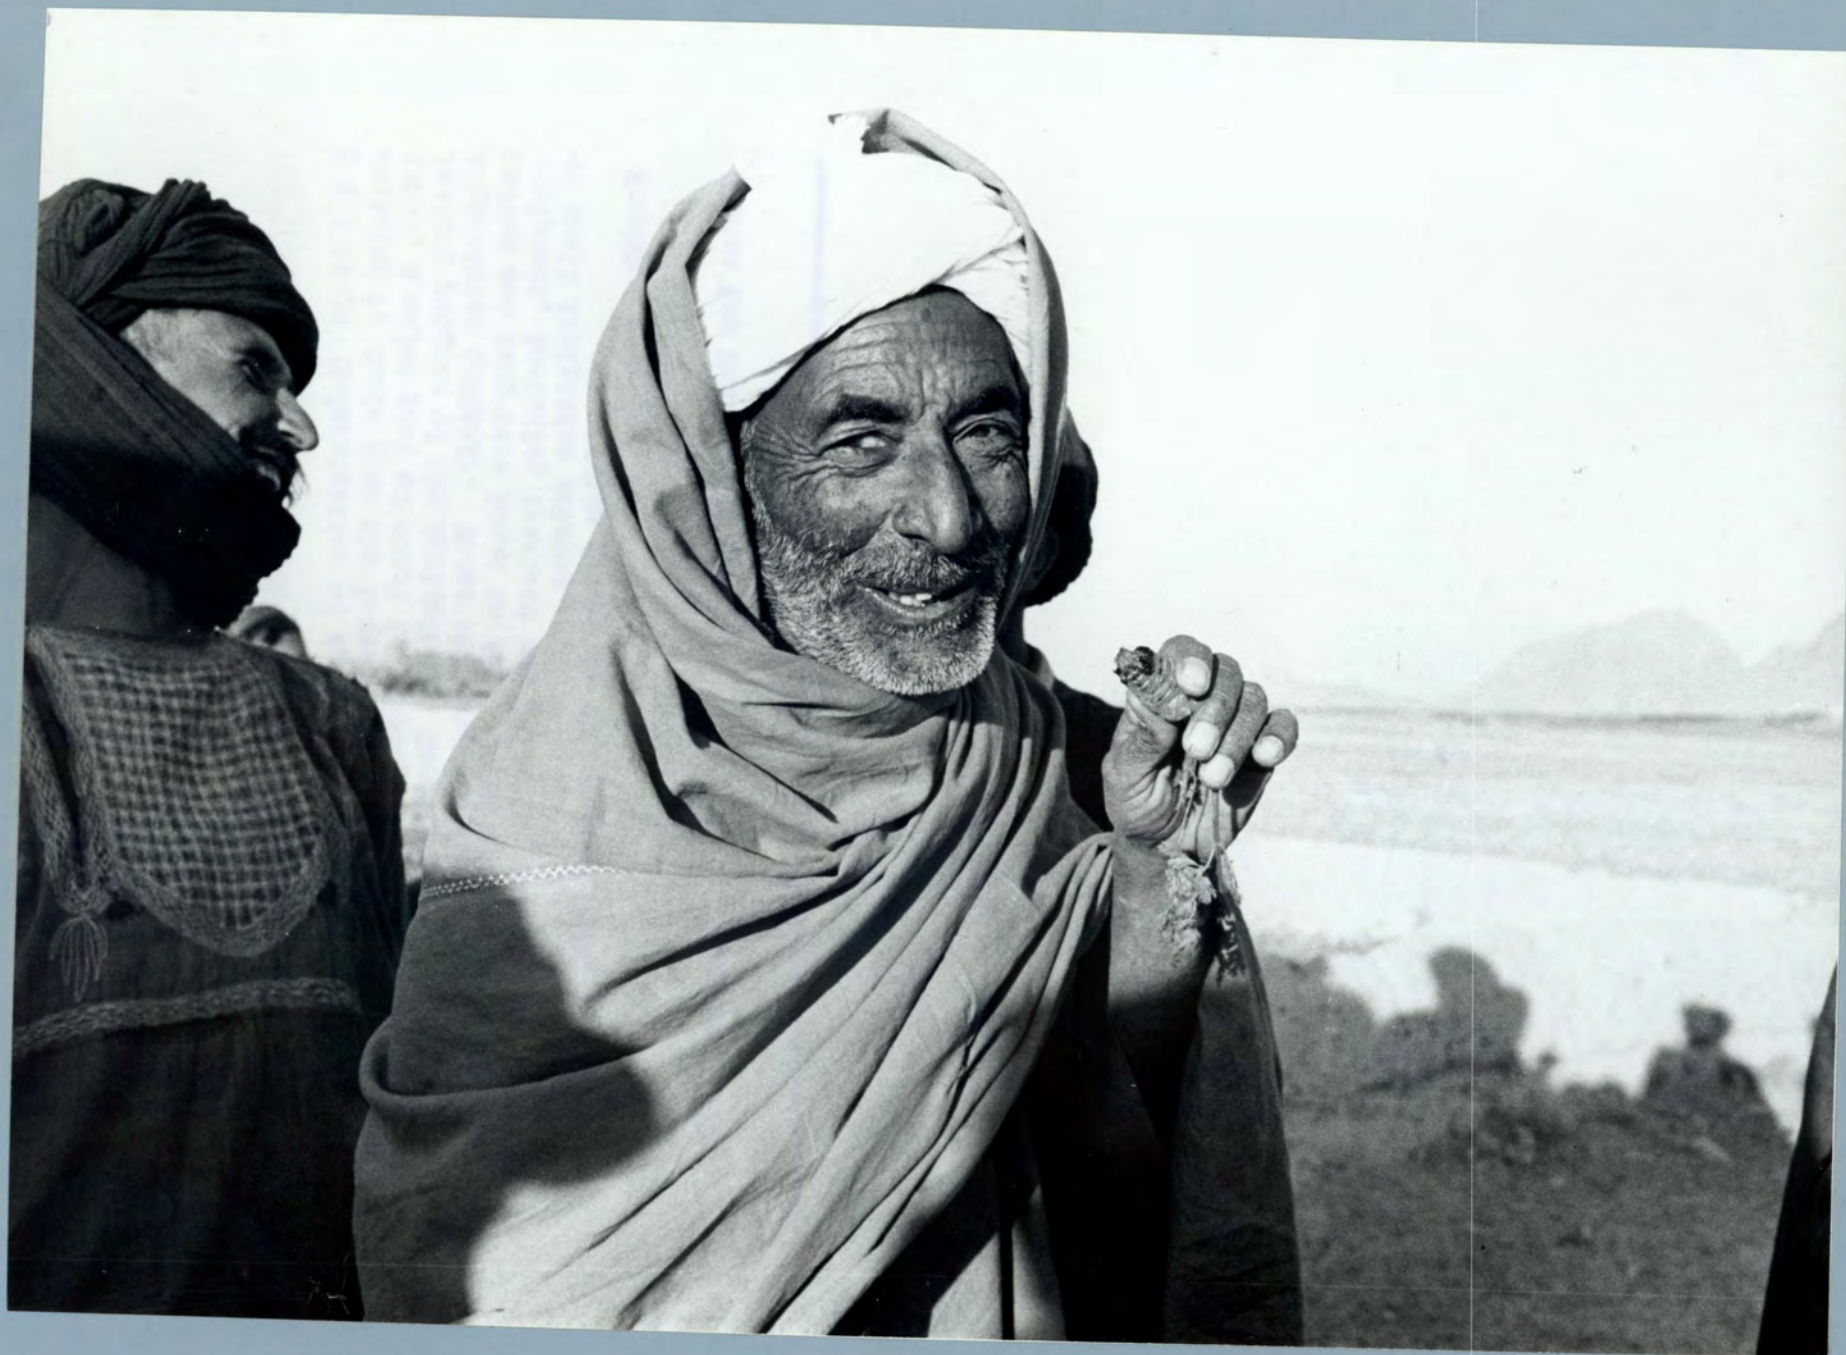

D-202-AF-30 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Abdul Kayum, a farmer in Arghandab Kandahar Province, realizes the importance of fertilizer.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-36

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

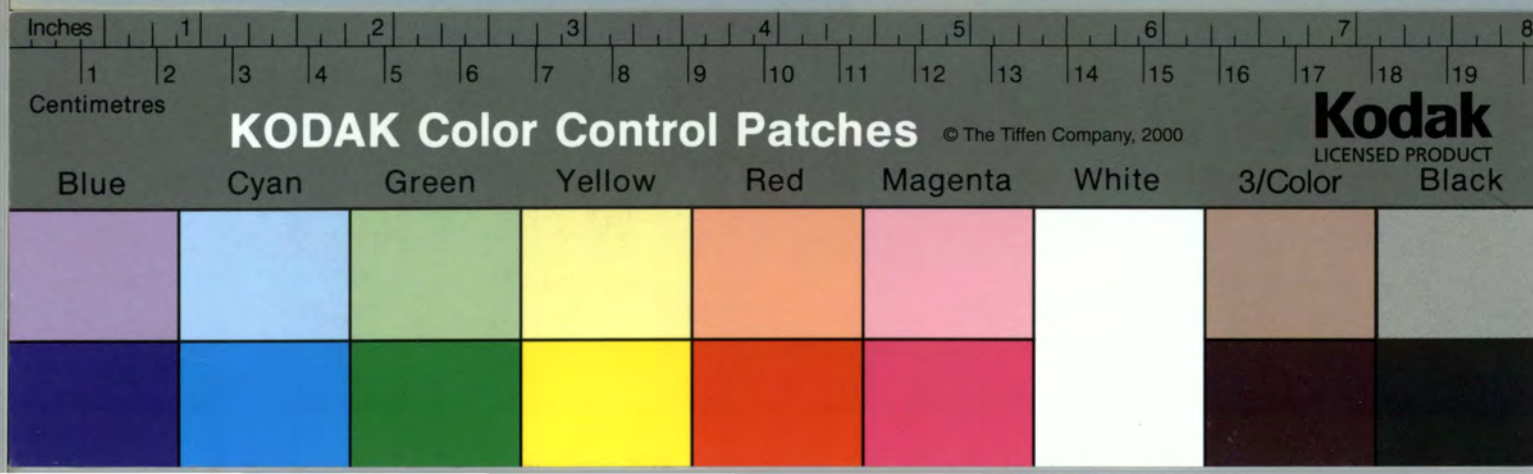

D-202-AF-36 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

An Afghan farmer on the farm of Abdul Kayum in Kandahar Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D - 202 - AF - 28

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

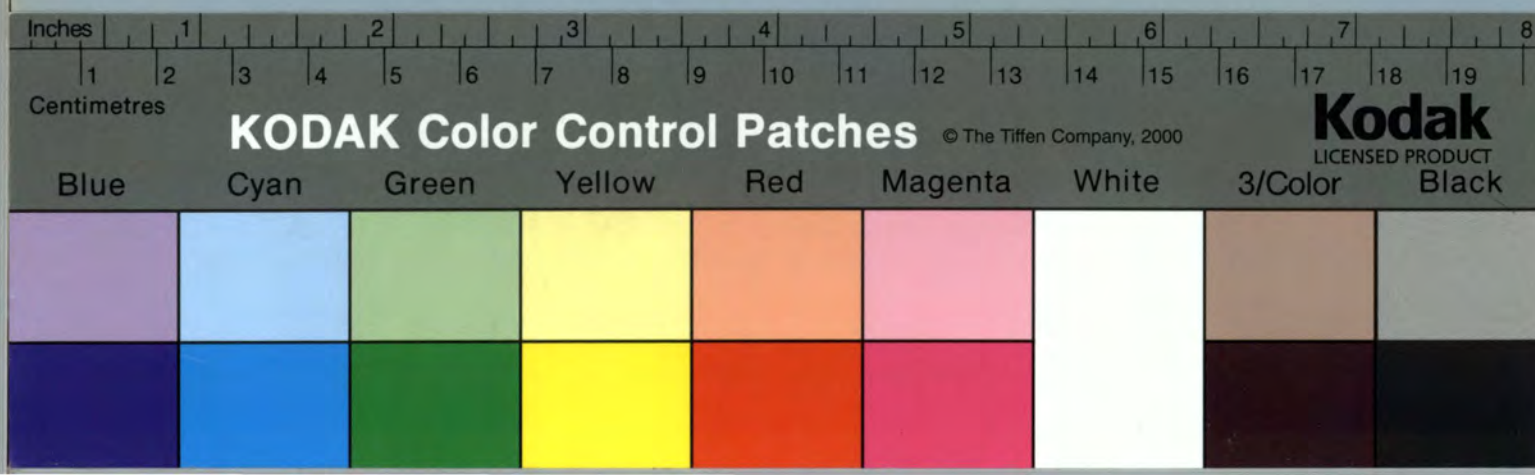

D-202-AF-28 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Abdul Kayum, a farmer in Arghandab Kandahar Province has just uncrated his new tractor which he is buying through the agricultural credit office in Kandahar.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-41

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

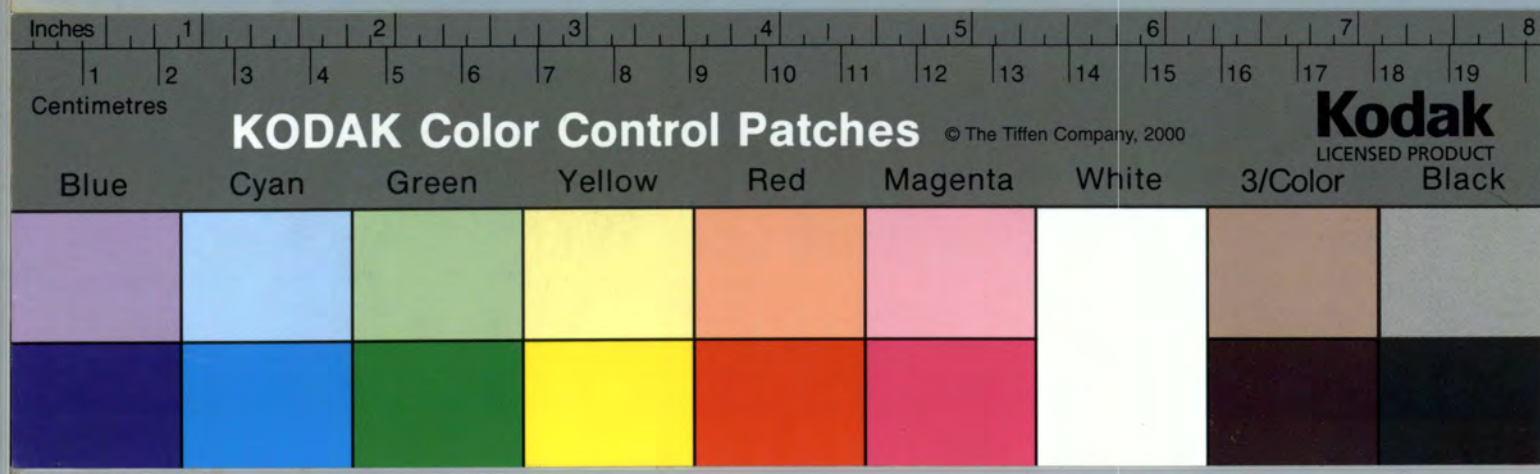

D-202 AF-41 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

This farmer in Laskar Gah has purchased a water pump through AGBANK. It is enabling him to successfully water approximately 150 acres.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-42

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

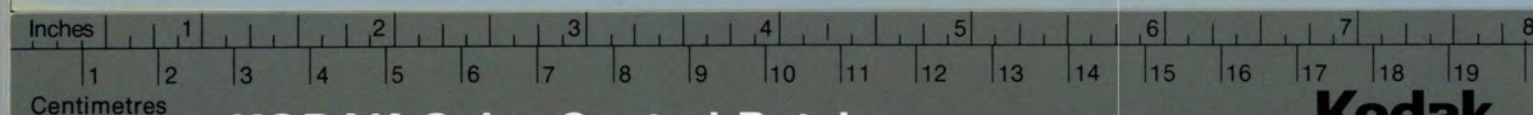

D-202-AF-42 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Cotton is delivered by truck to the Bost Oil Company in Laskar Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-45

KODAK Color Control Patches

© The Tiffen Company, 2000

Kodak
LICENSED PRODUCT

Blue Cyan Green Yellow Red Magenta White 3/Color Black

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-45 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Cotton is unloaded at the cotton gin of the Bost Oil Company in Laskar Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-49

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

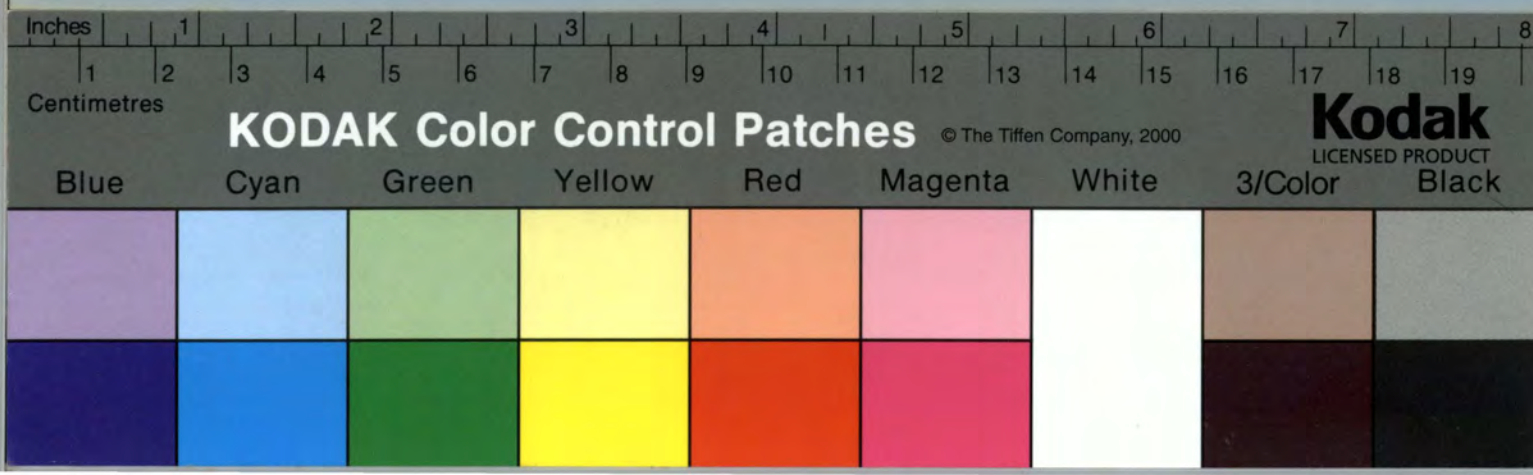

D-202-AF-49 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Cotton is brought by truck and by camel to the cotton gin of the Best Oil Company in Leskar Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-50

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

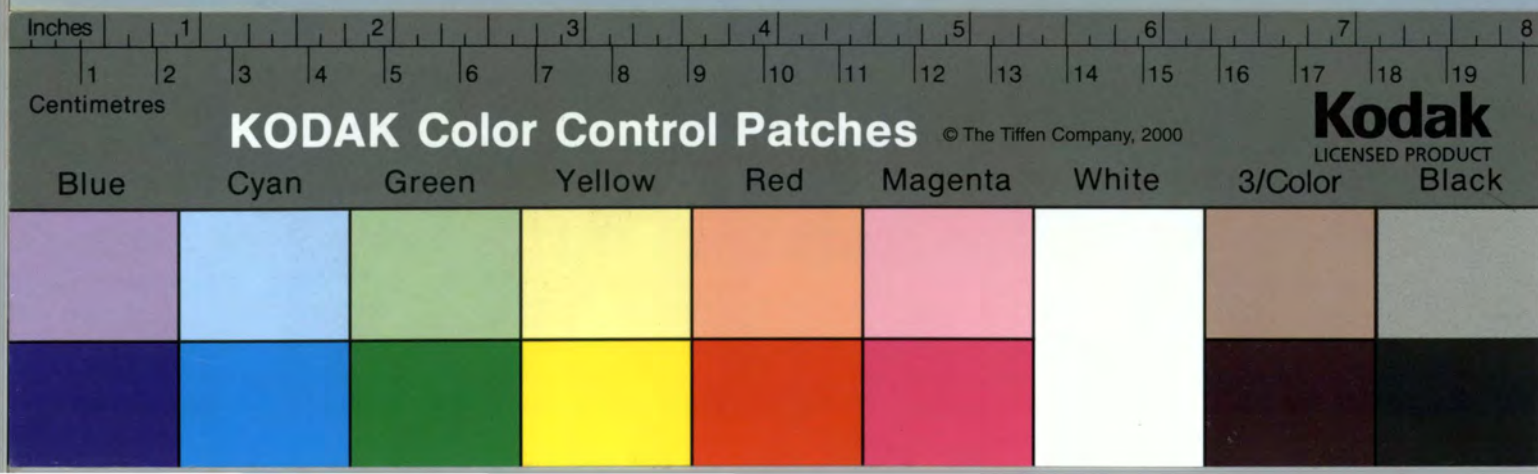

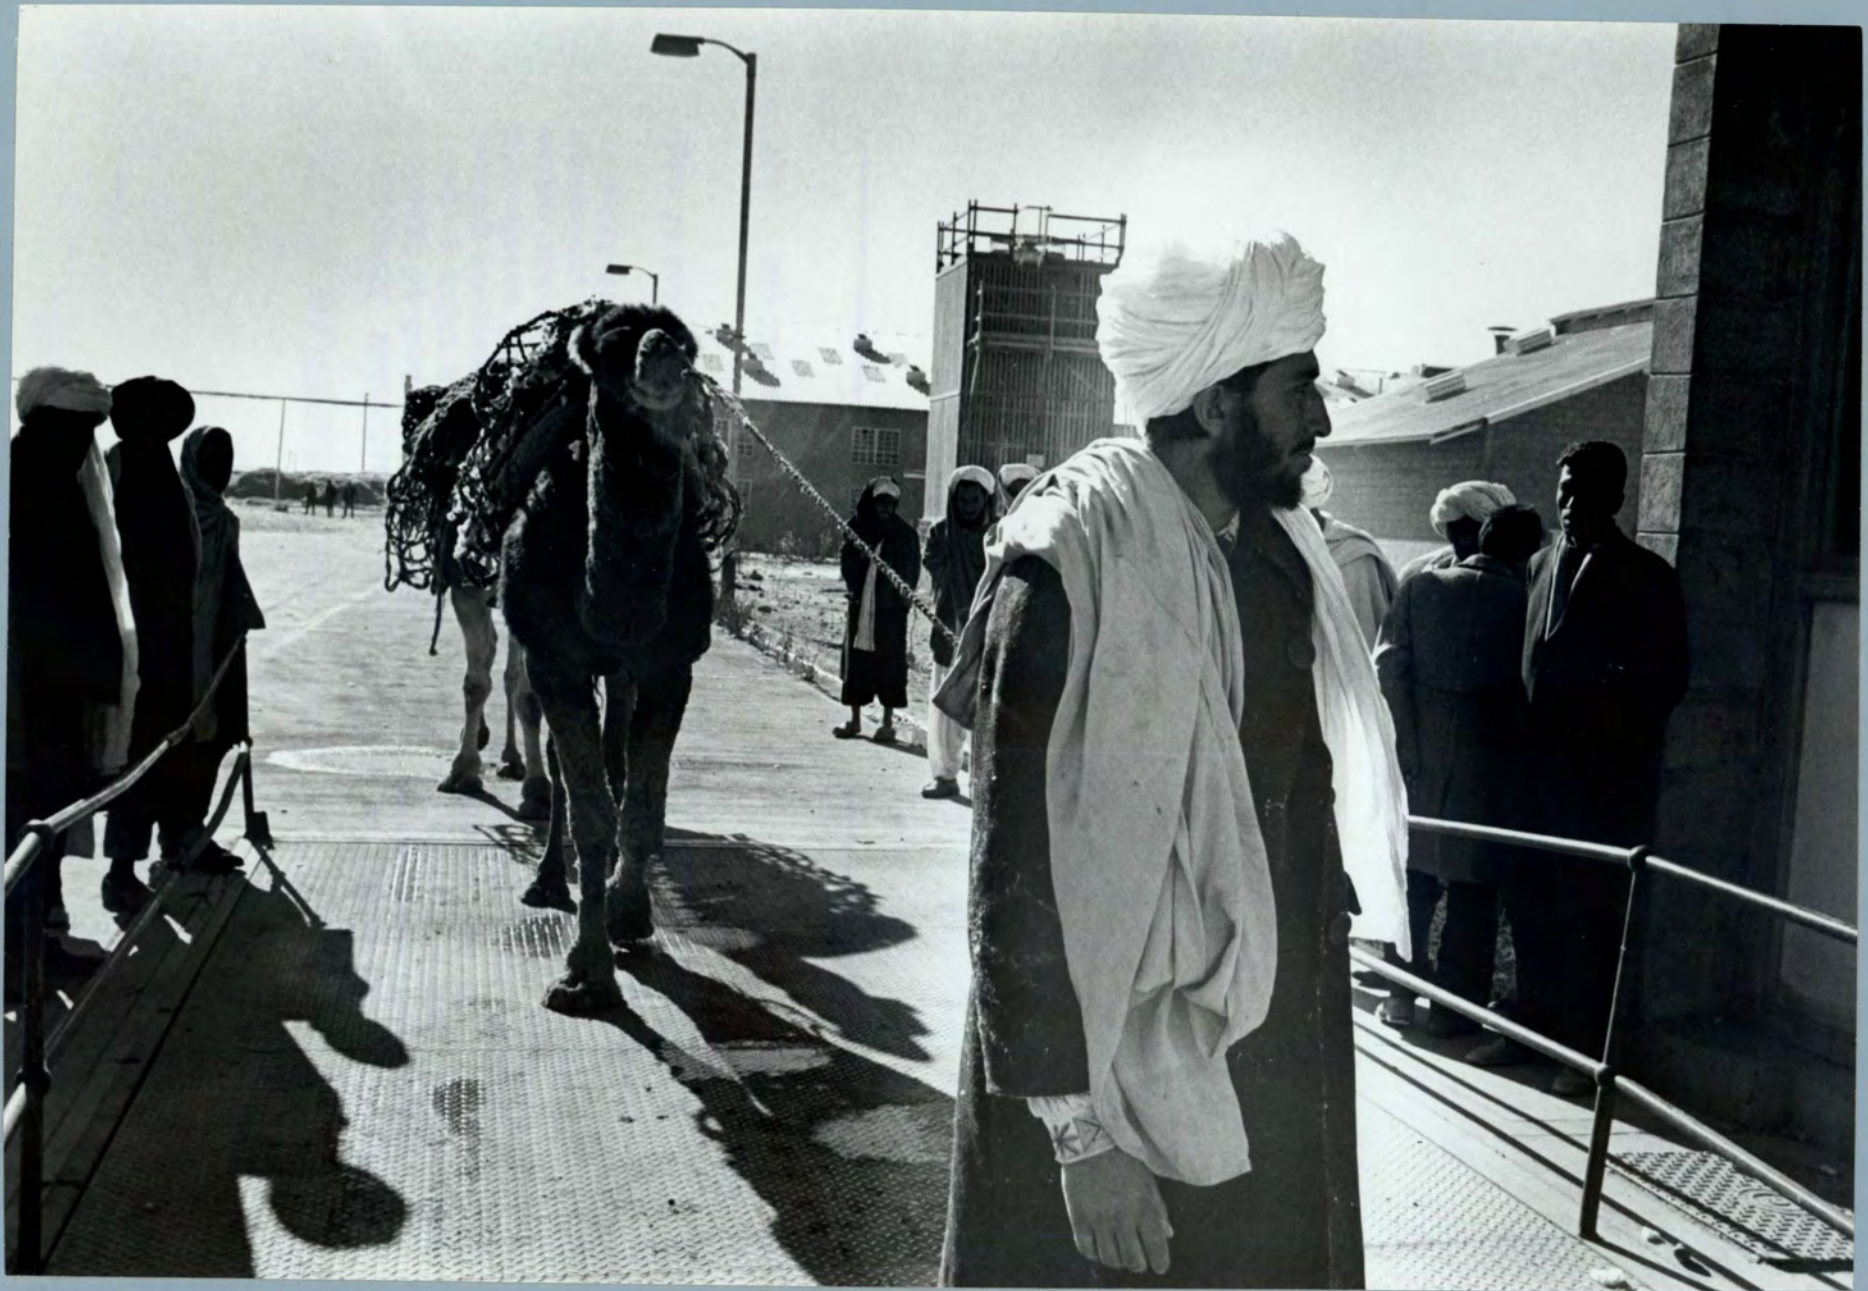

D-202-AF-50 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Cotton is brought by truck and by camel to the cotton gin of the Bost Oil Company in Lasker Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-51

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-51 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

The weigh station at the Bost Oil Company cotton gin in Laskar Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-57

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

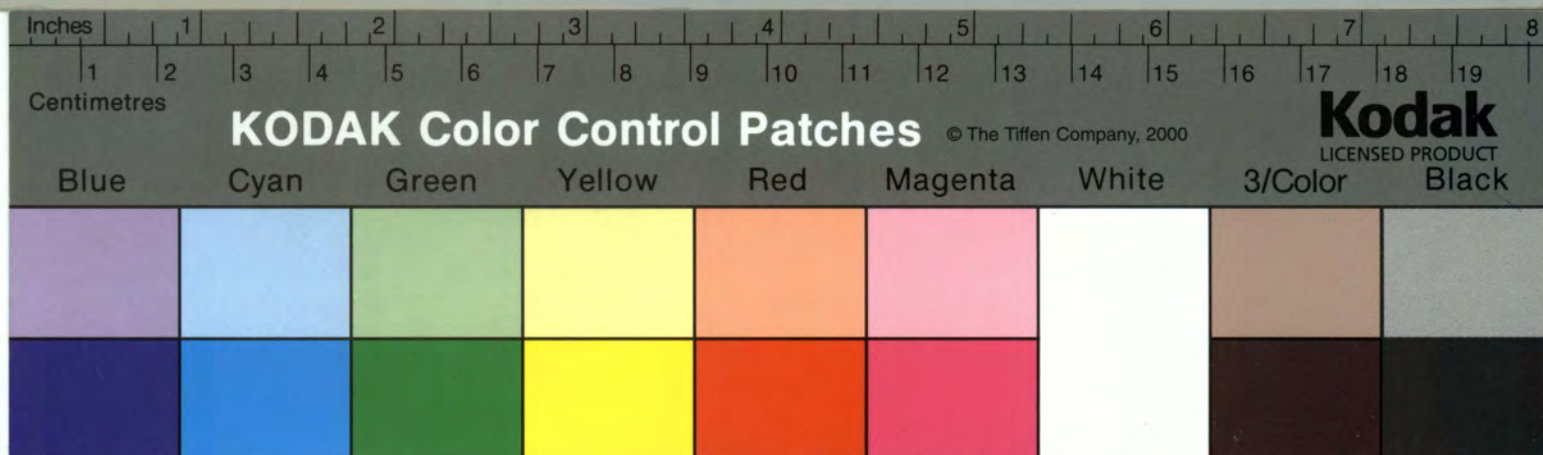

D-202-AF-57 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A group of settlers under the land reclamation program being interviewed for tractor applications by the extension agent of the agricultural credit office in Laskar Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-59

WORLD BANK

1818 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., 20433, U.S.A.

D-202-AF-59 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), an affiliate of the WORLD BANK, a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

 An Afghan farmer shucking an improved variety of corn which was produced on a government-sponsored seed multiplication farm in Laskar Gah.

Please credit: WORLD BANK PHOTO by Kay Muldoon.

1970

D-202-AF-62

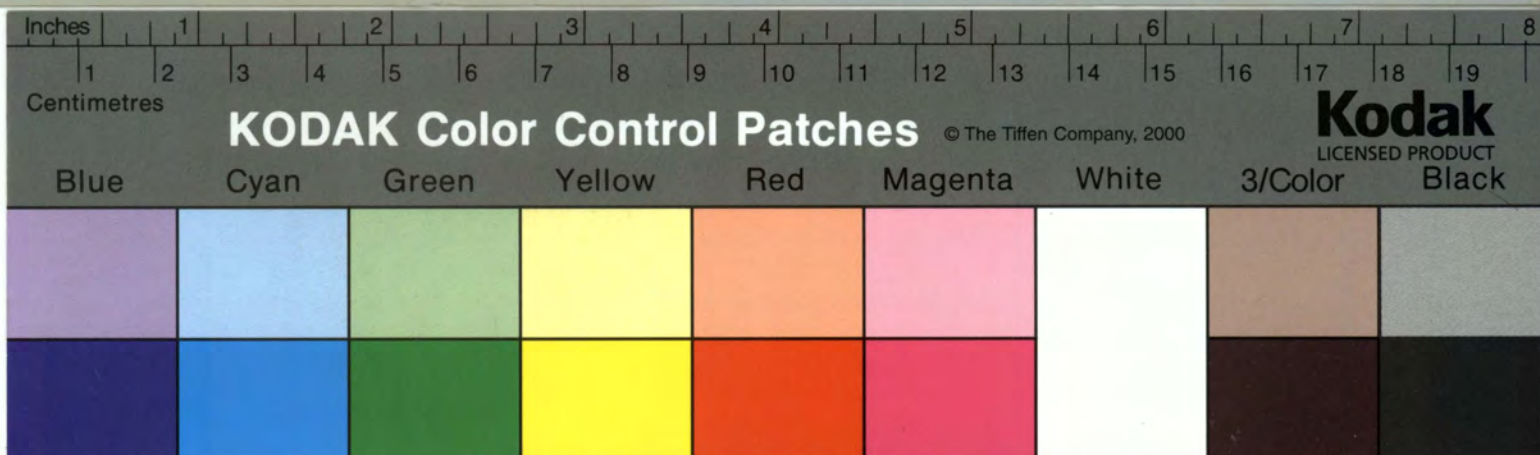

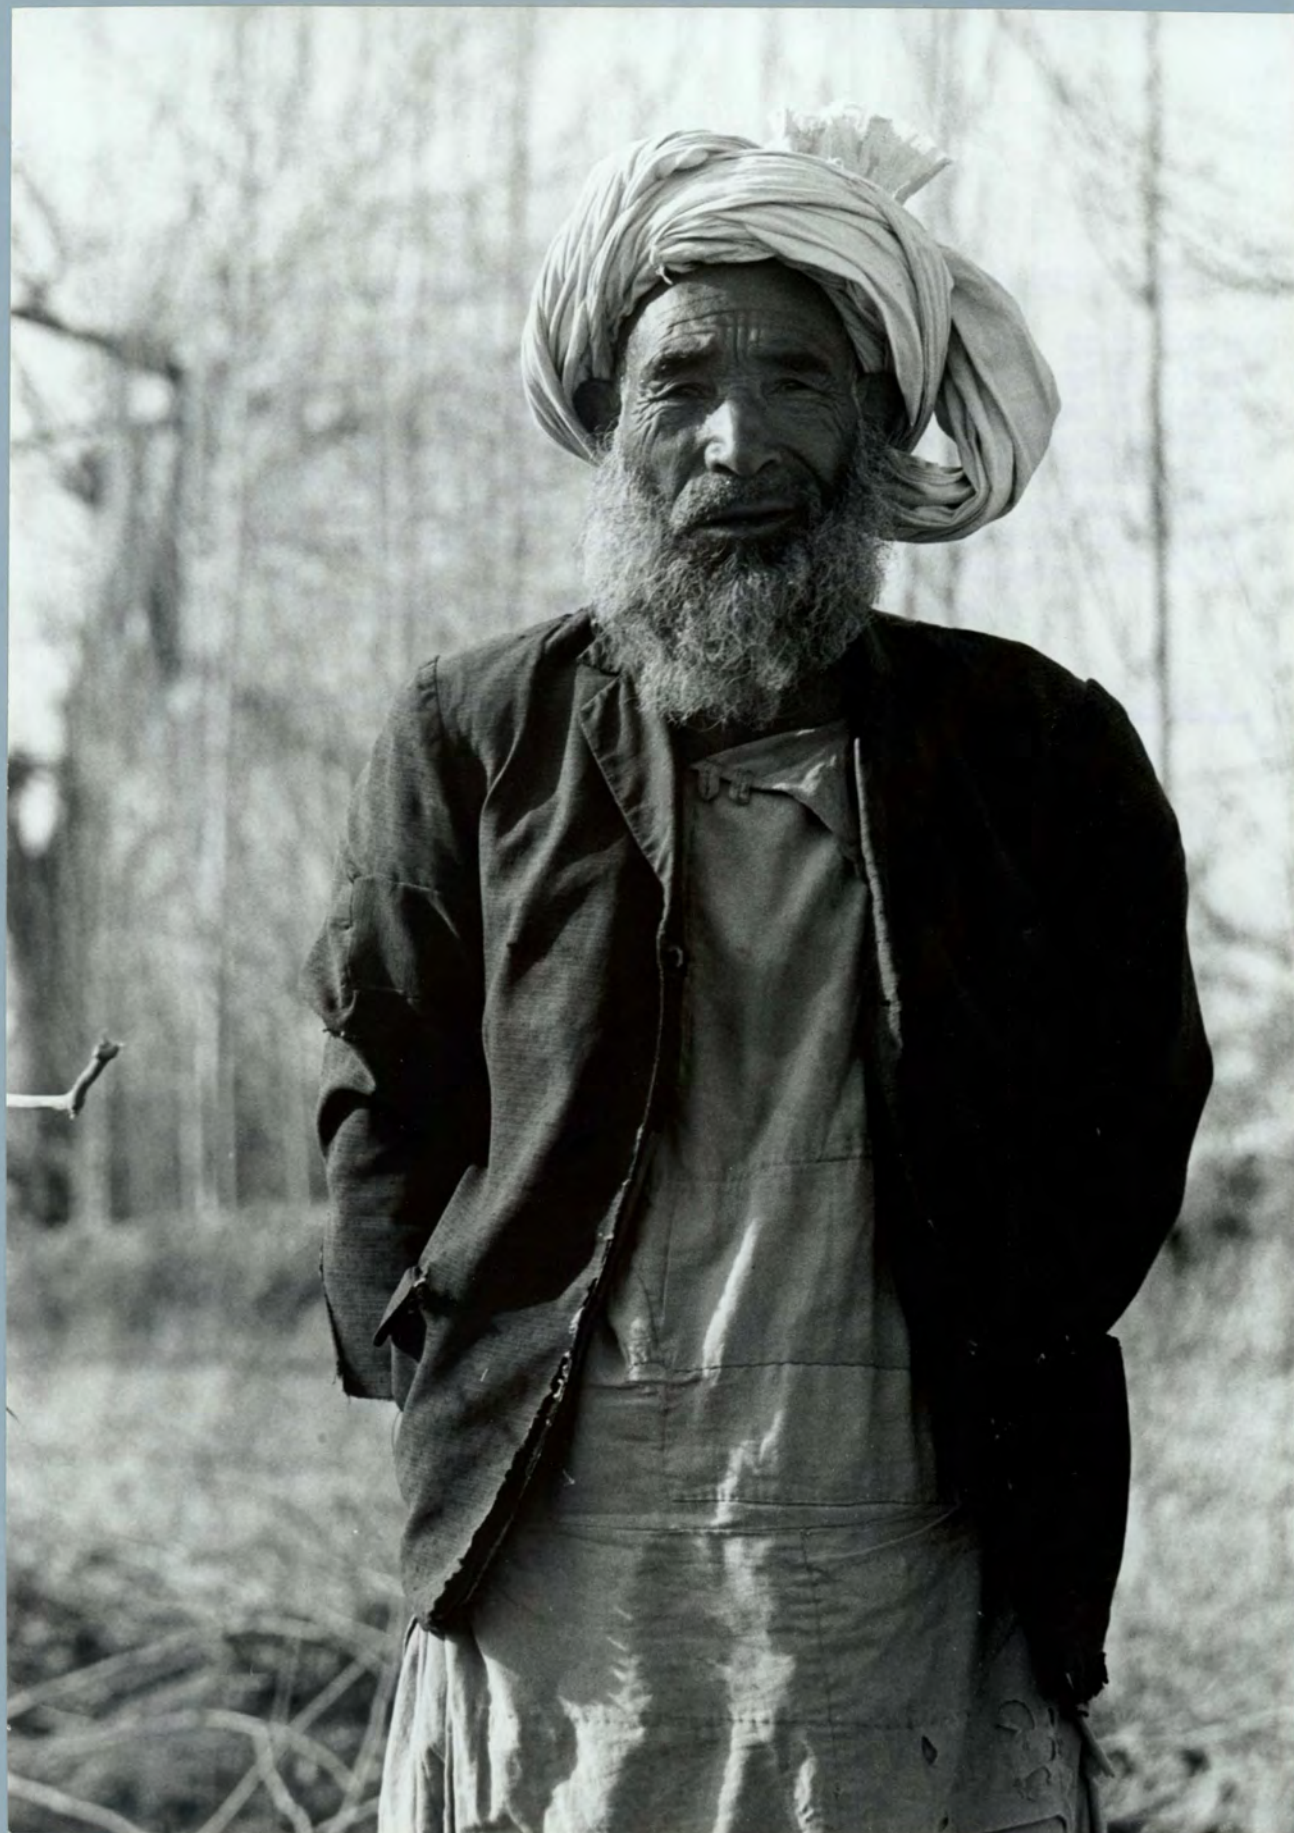

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), Washington, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-62 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A farmer examines newly picked cotton on a farm in Laskar Gah, Helmand Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

D-202-AF-63

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

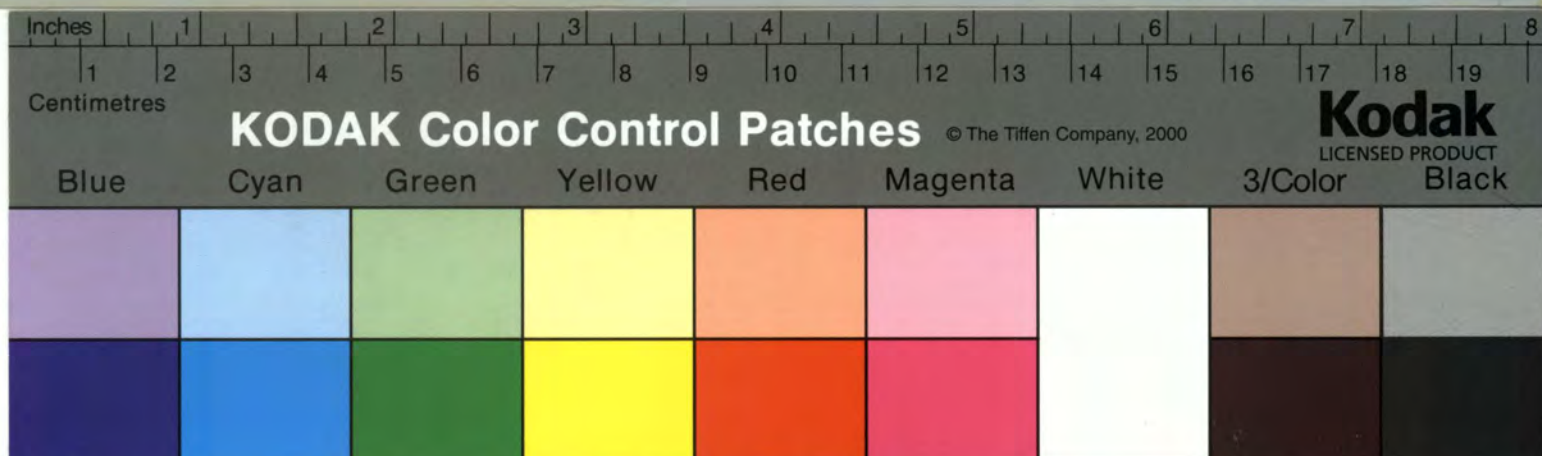

D-202-AF-63 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A farm hand in the Kabul area of Afghanistan.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA

December 1970

D-202-AF-64

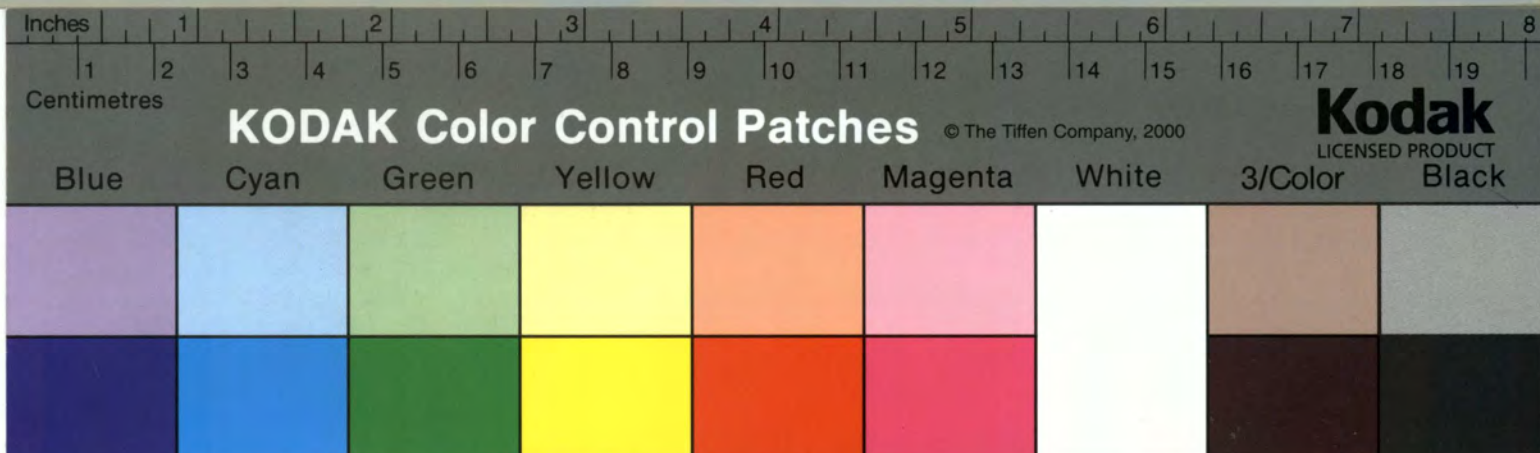

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-64 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A farm hand prepares the ground for manure on a grape farm in the Kabul area.

D-202-AF-65

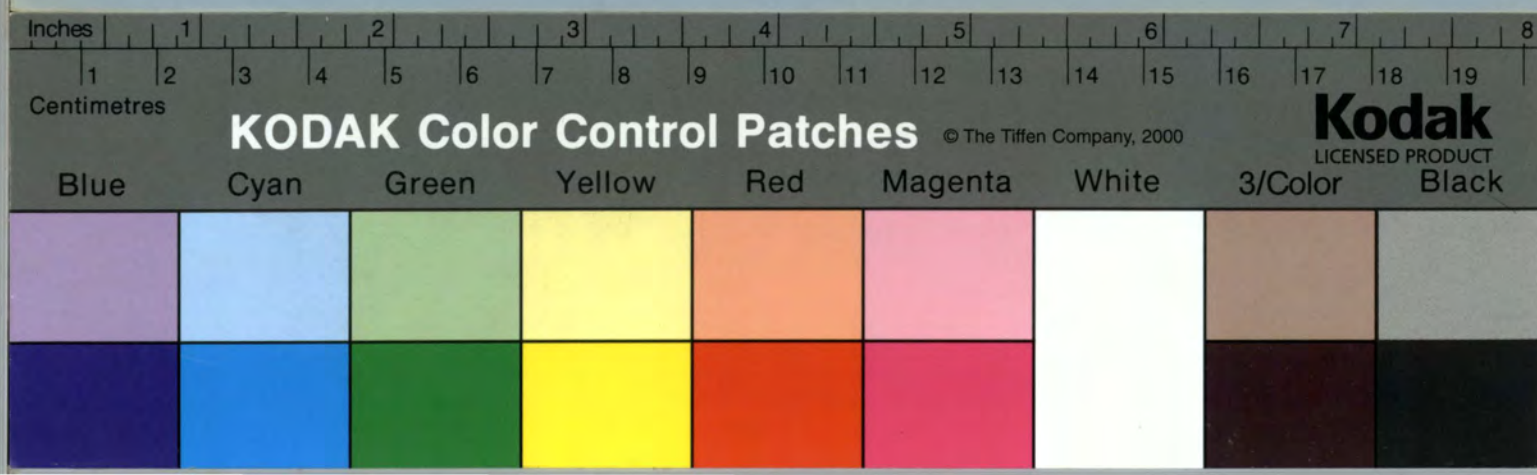

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), Washington, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-65 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A farmer works his vineyard in the traditional method near Kabul.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

D-202-AF-66

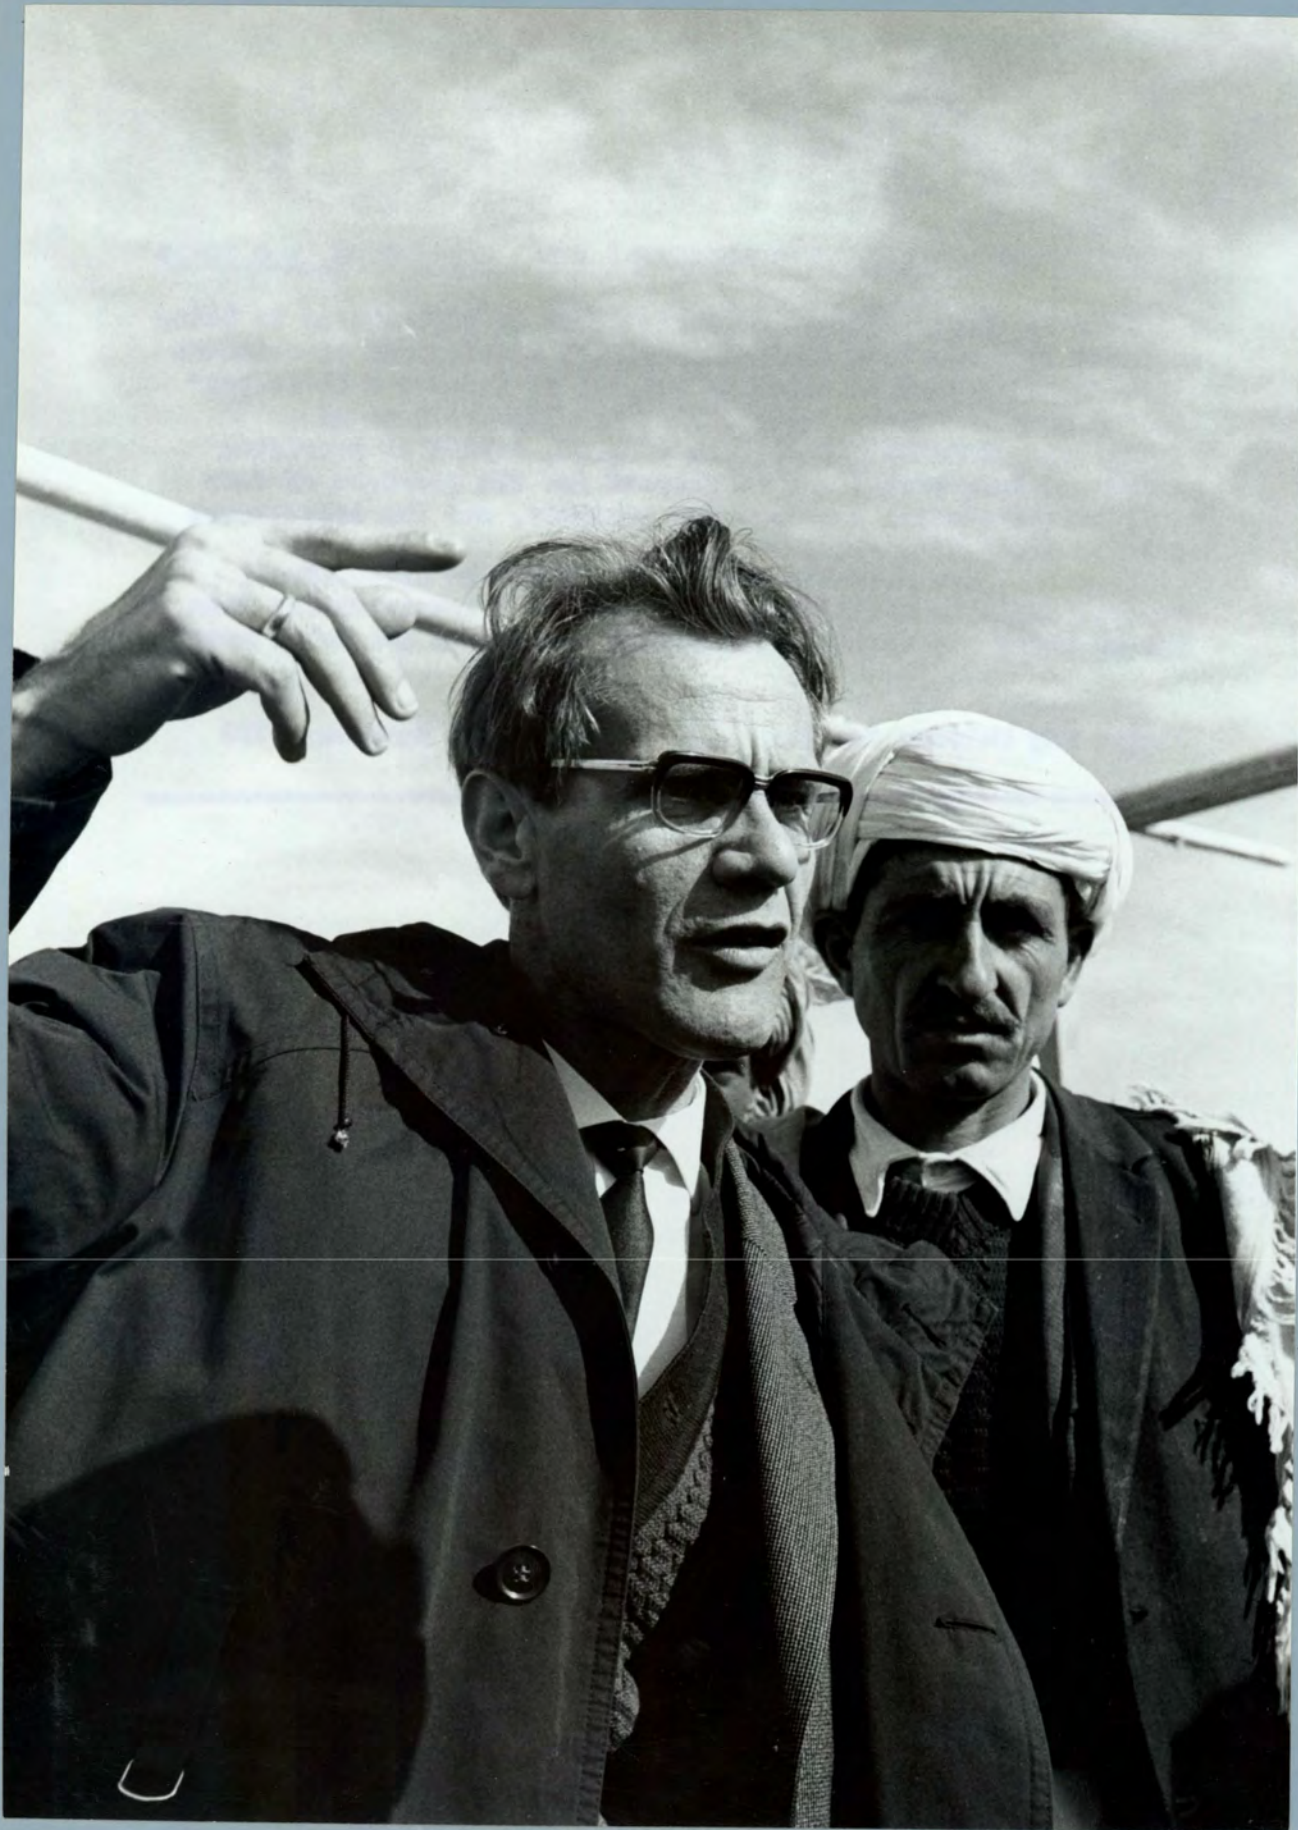

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-66 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A happy farm hand in the Kabul area of Afghanistan.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA

D-202-AF-70

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

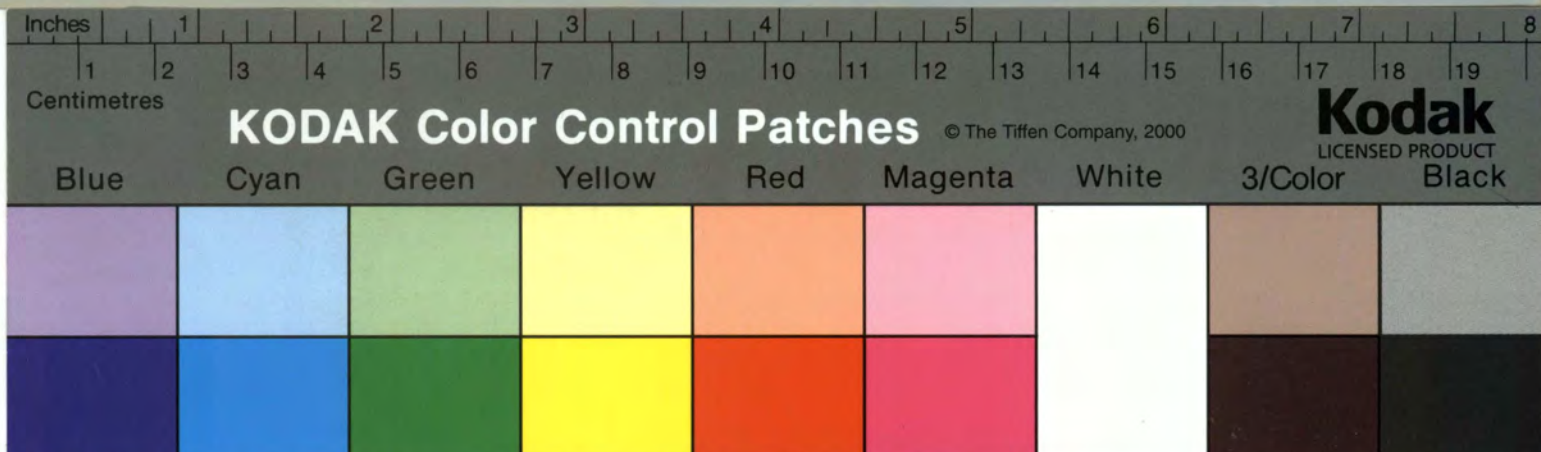

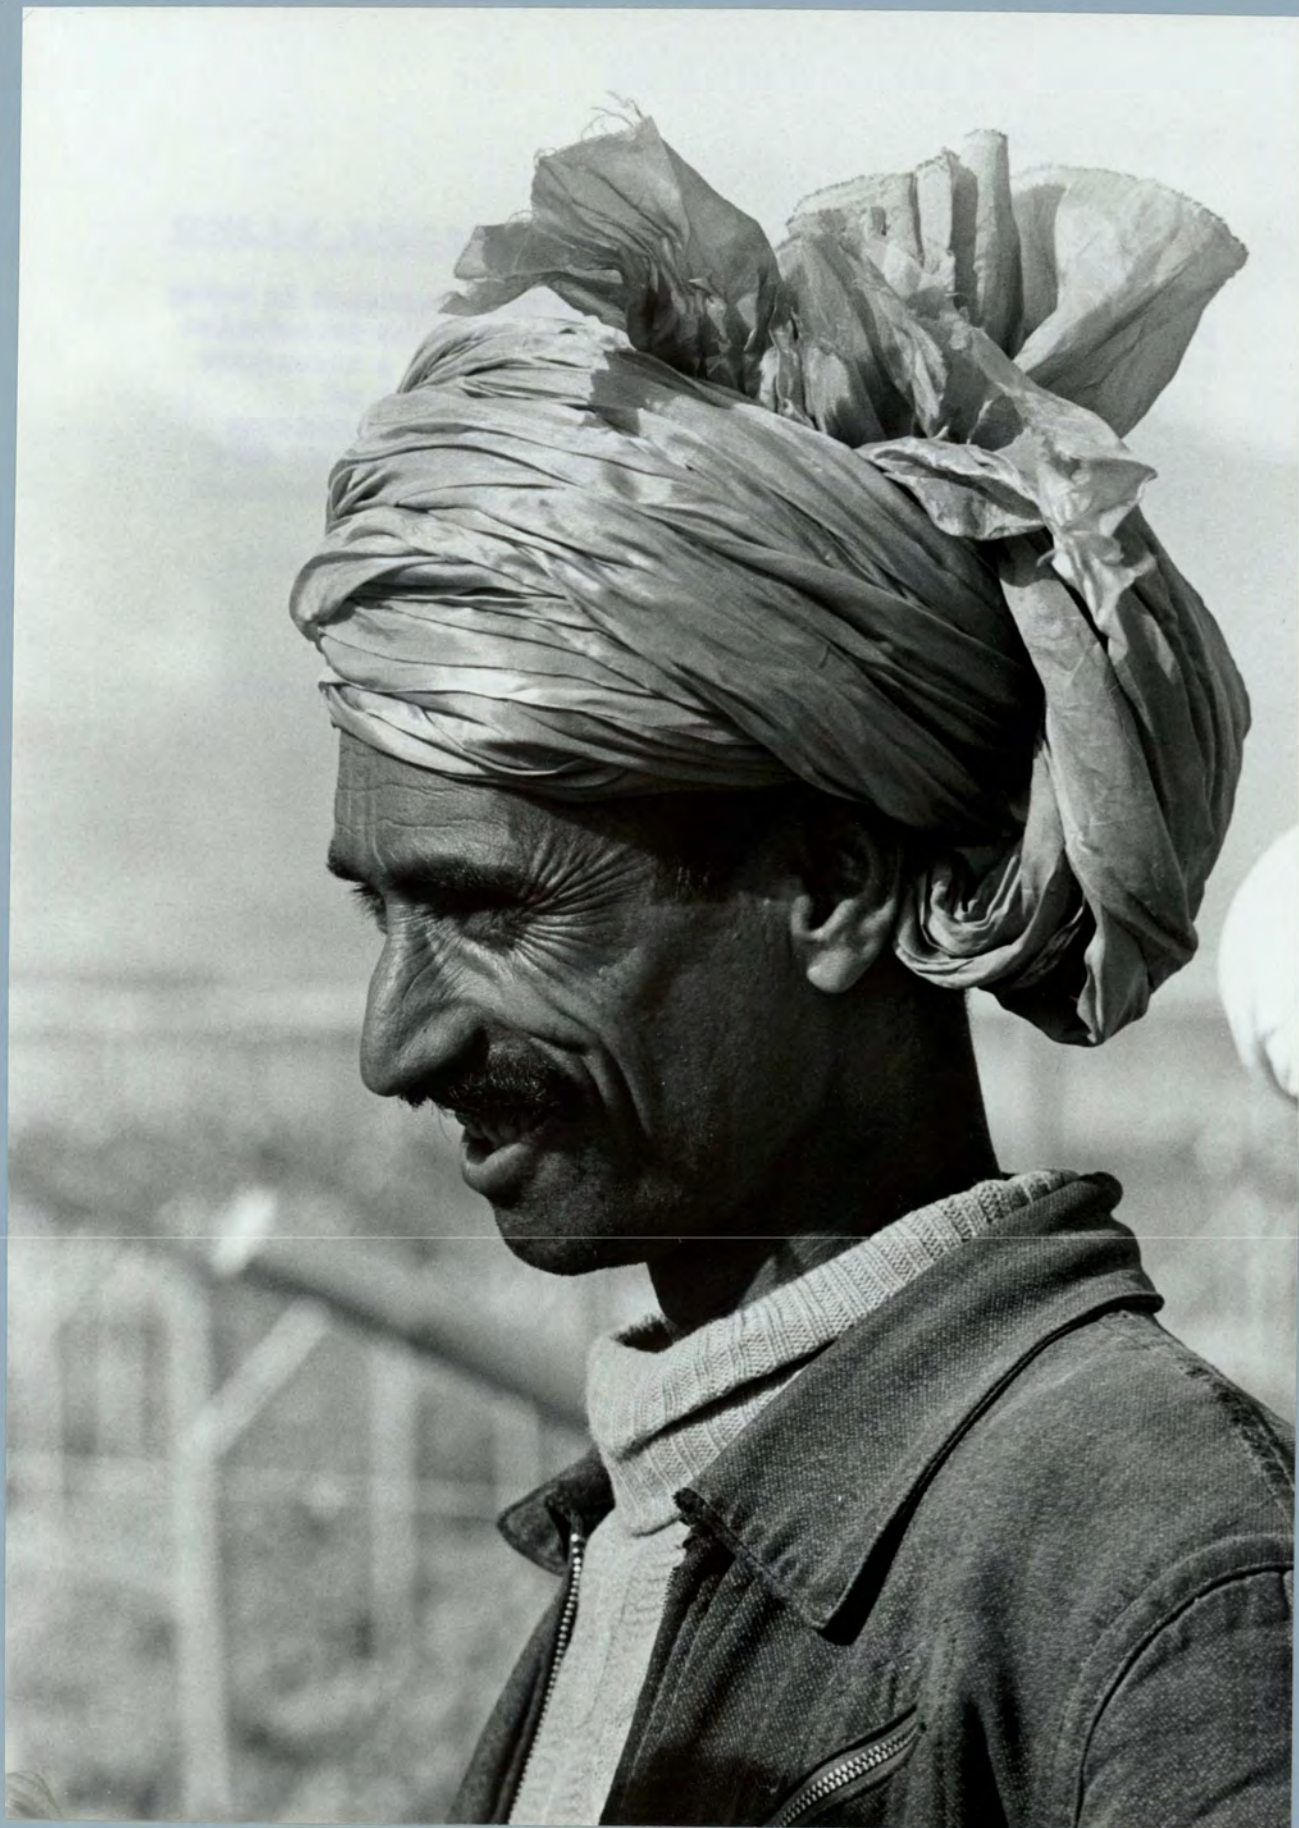

D-202-AF-70 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Mr. Kriechhammer (left), a German agricultural expert, explains trellising of grapes on a demonstration farm set up under the agricultural credit scheme, in the Kabul area.

Photo: Key Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-73

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

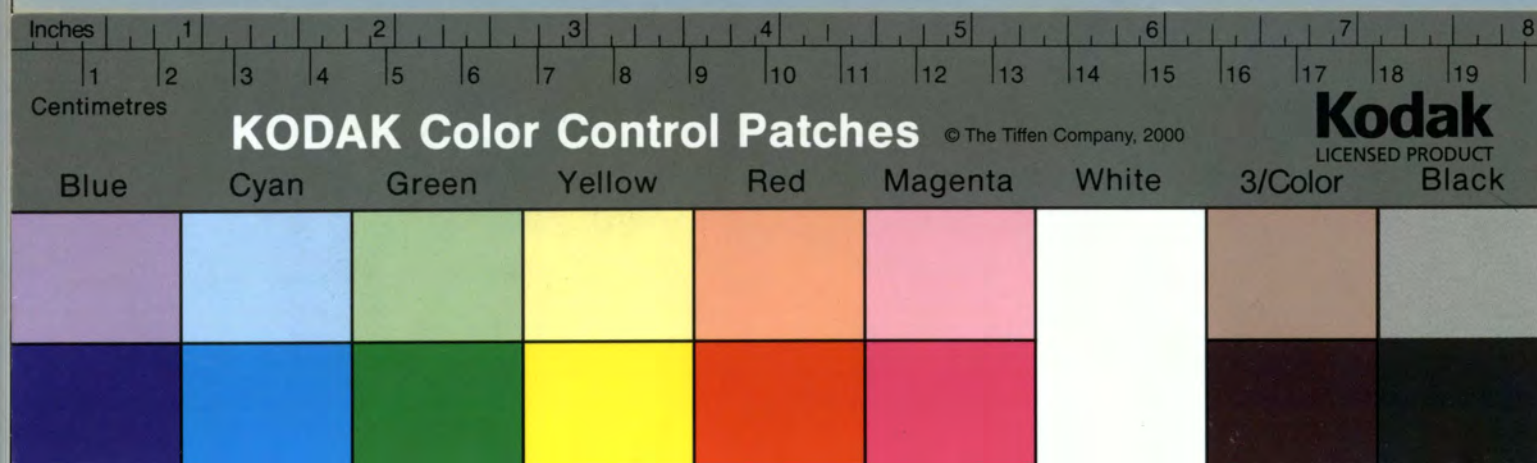

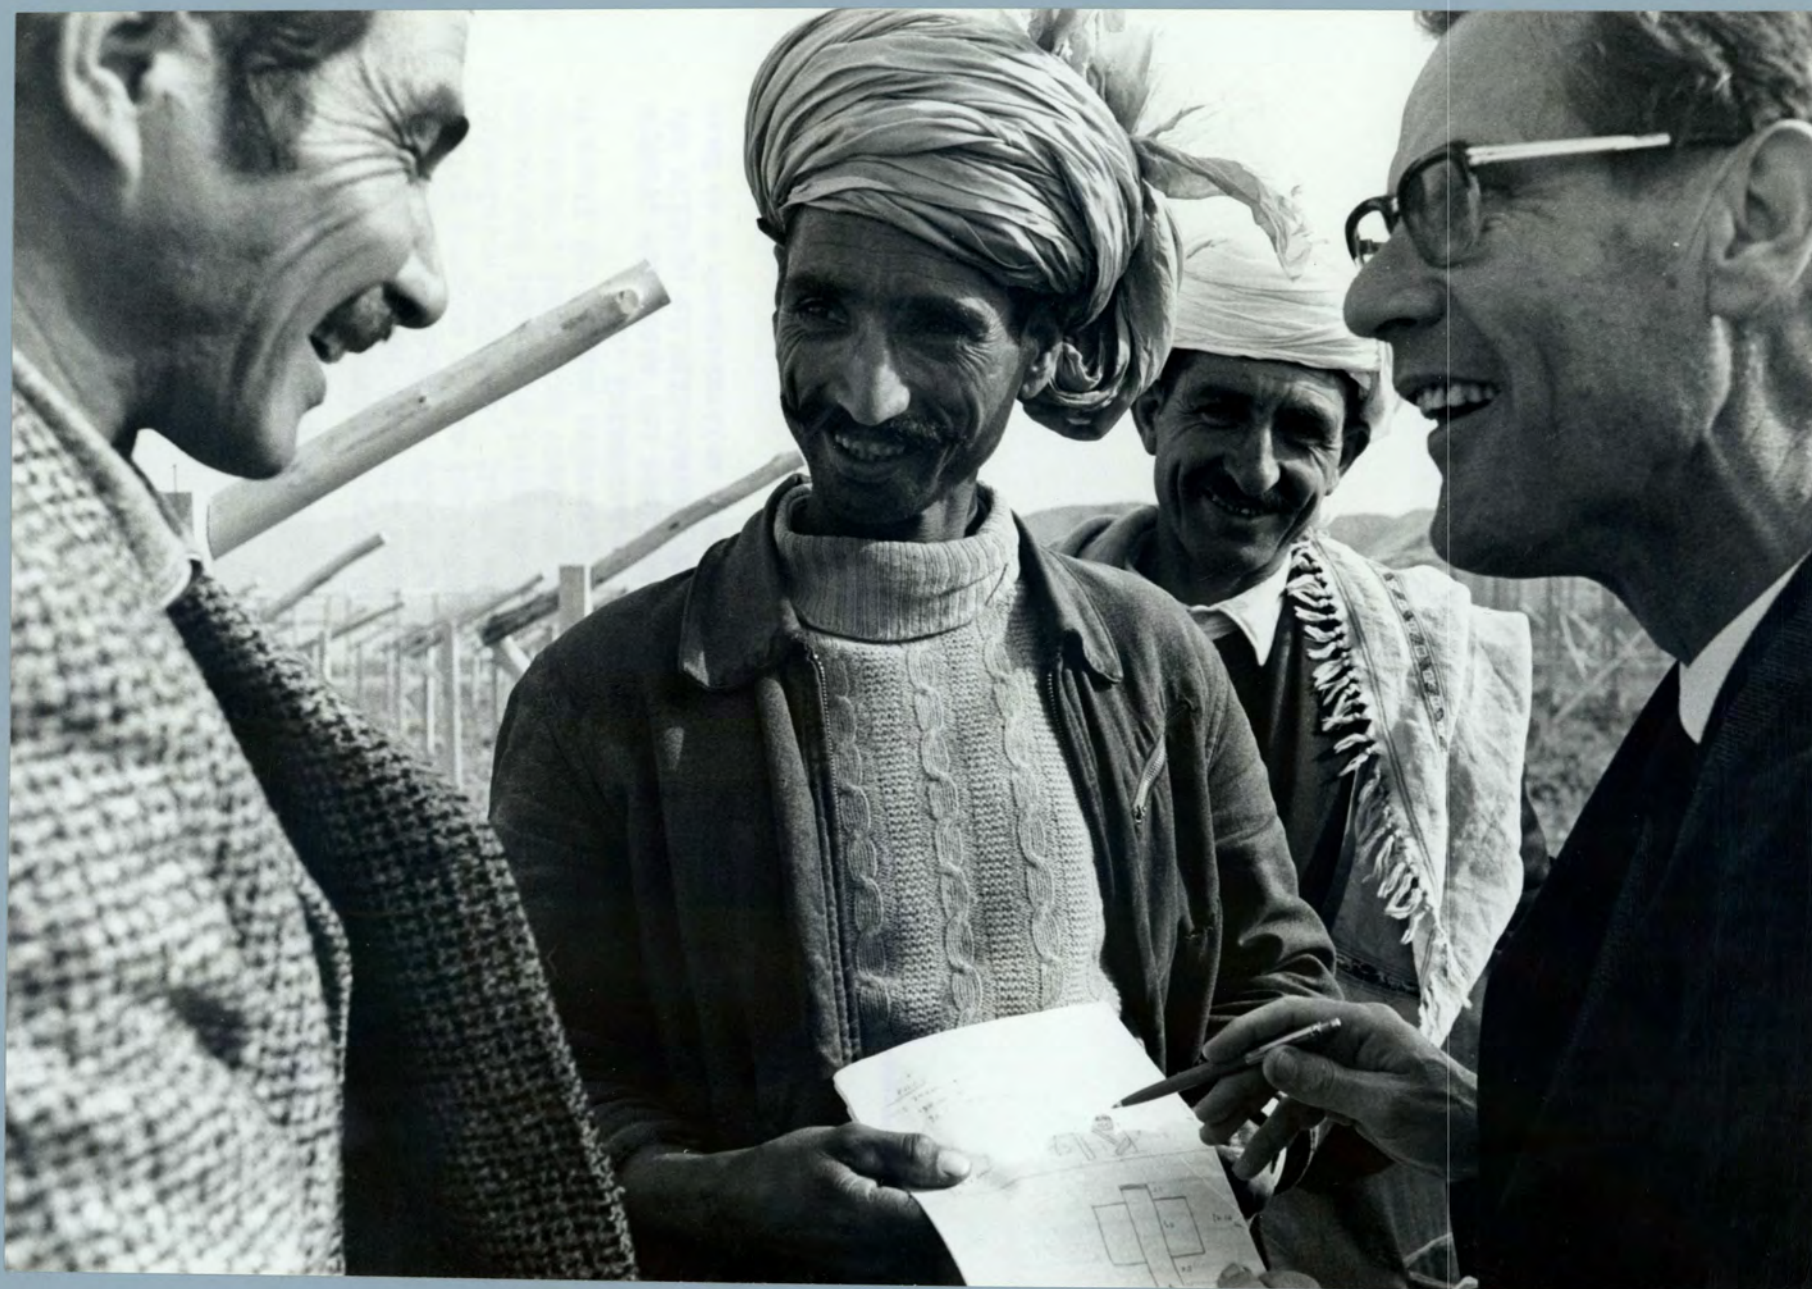

D-202-AF-73 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

A happy farmer in the village of Milbachacot in Kabul Province.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-76

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-76 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Mr. Kriechhammer (right), a German agricultural expert, discusses the trellising of a vineyard at the edge of the village of Milbachacot, Kabul Province. This farm is being used as a demonstration plot by the agricultural credit program.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-77

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

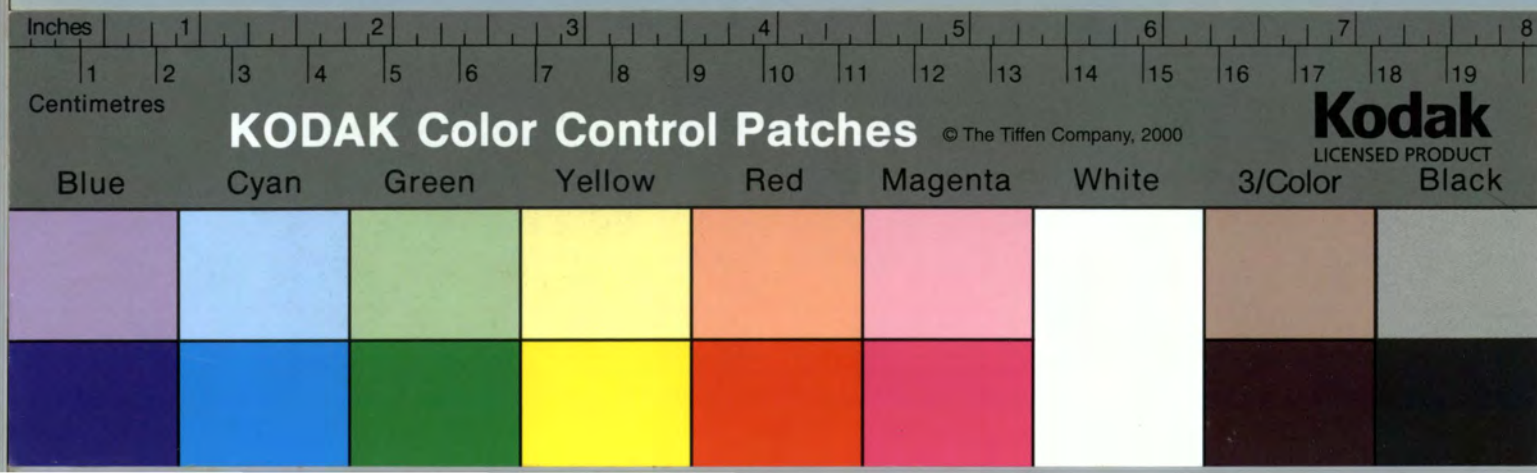

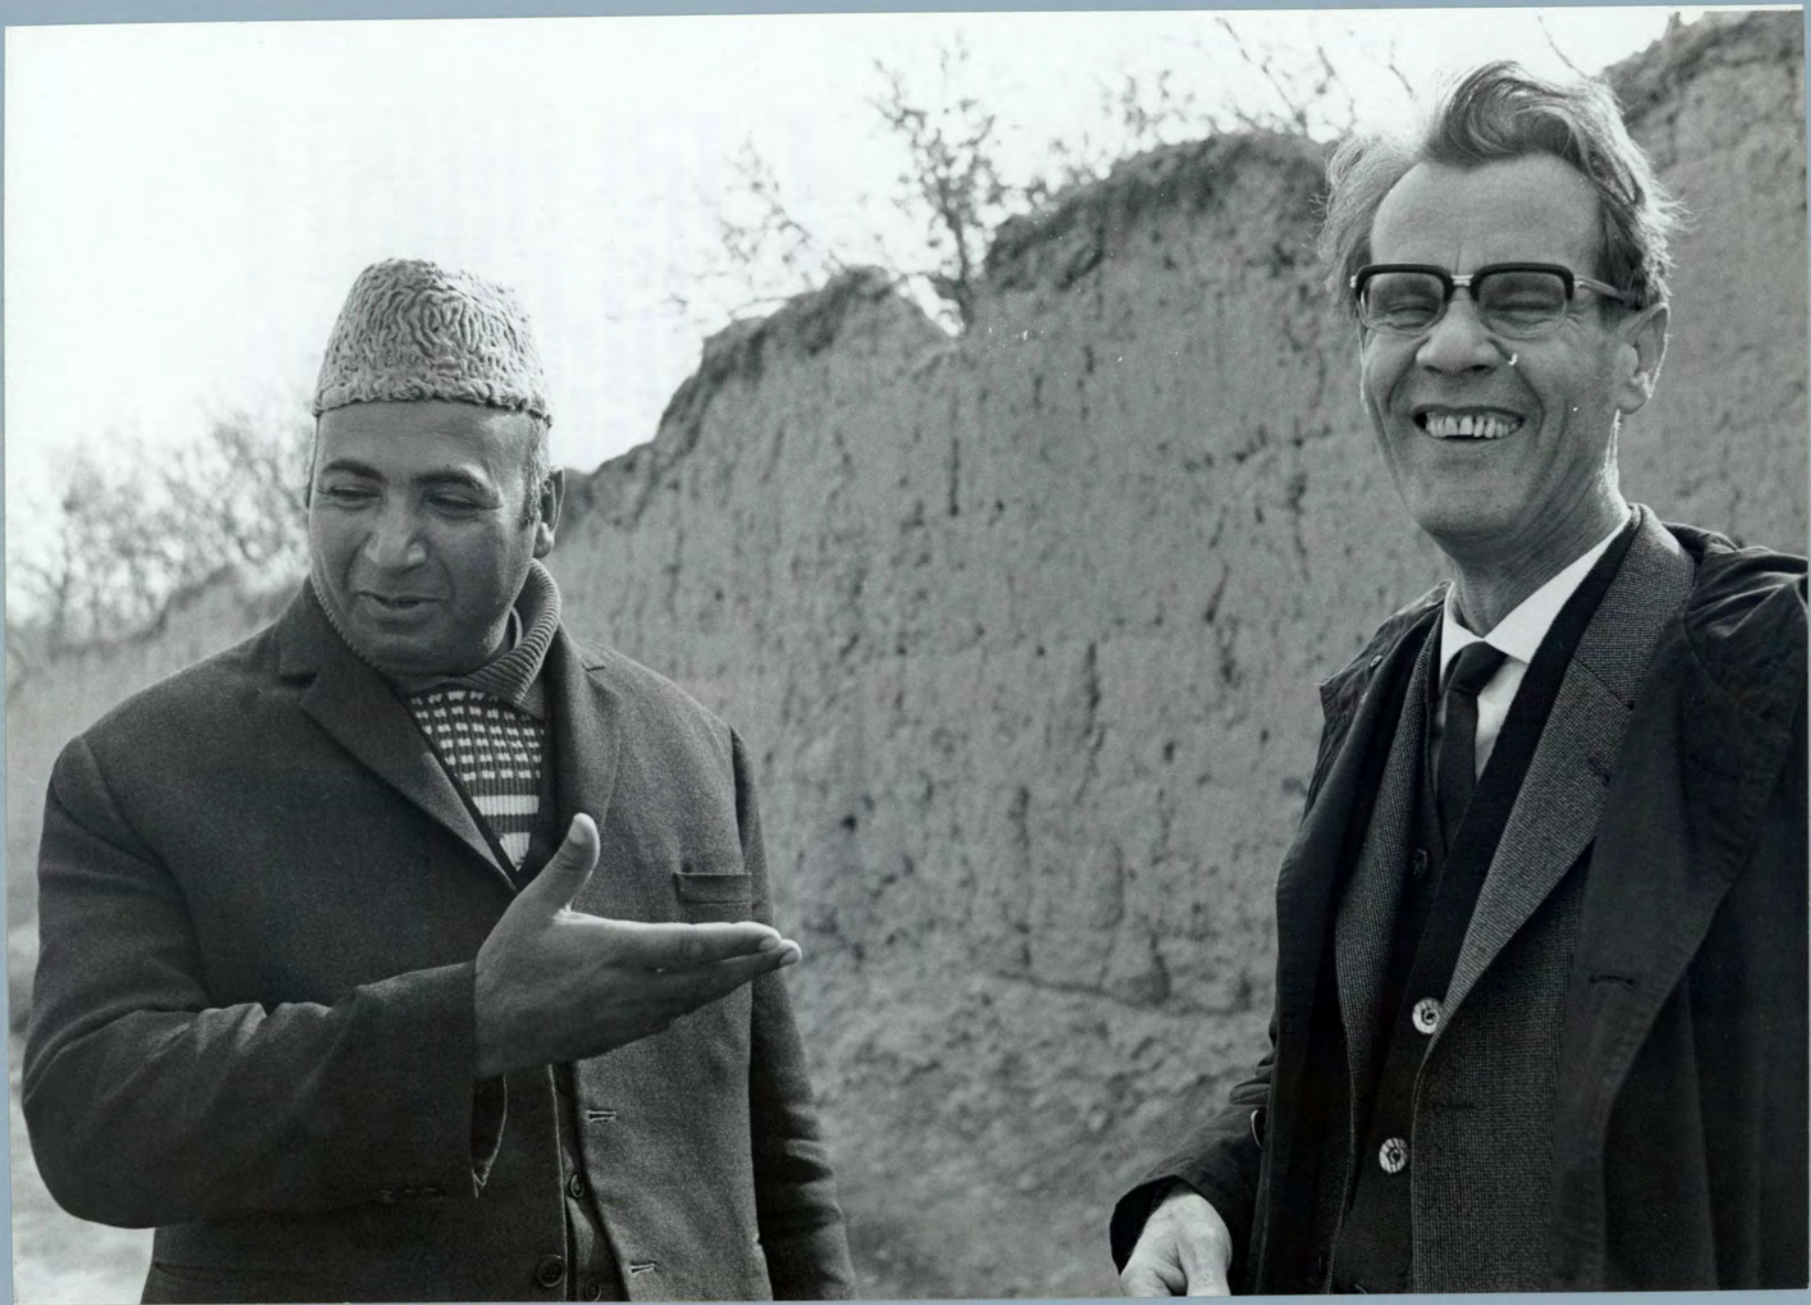

D-202-AF-77 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Mr. Kriechhammer (left), a German agricultural expert, talks with Mr. Abdul Kahim (right) the owner of the farm at the edge of the village of Milbachacot, Kabul Province, which has been used as a demonstration plot for trellising by the agricultural credit program.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-78

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

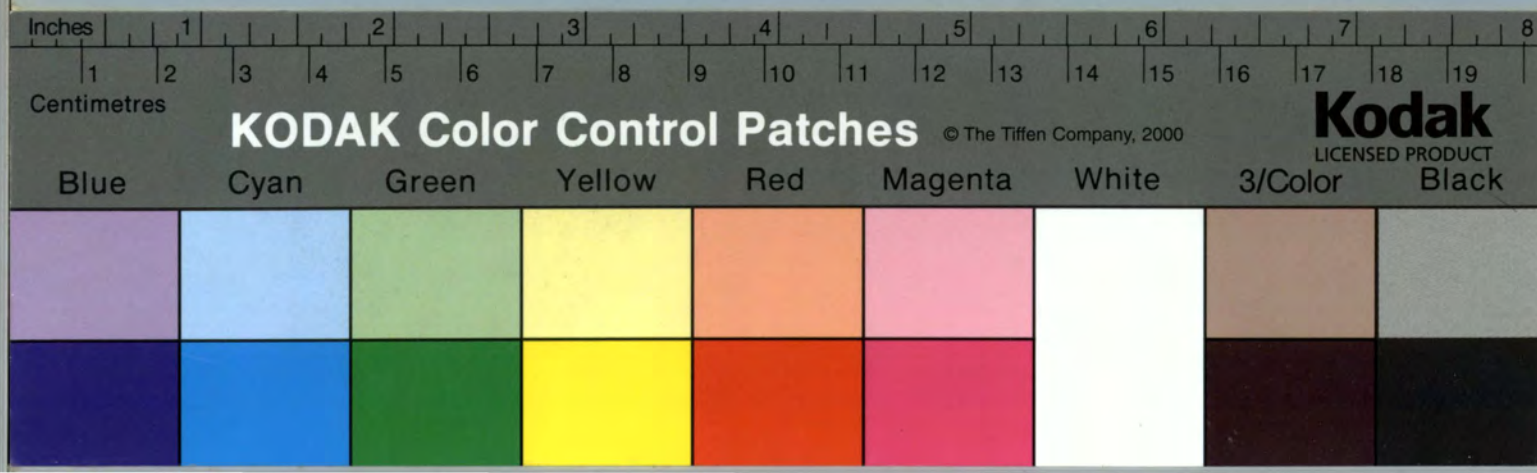

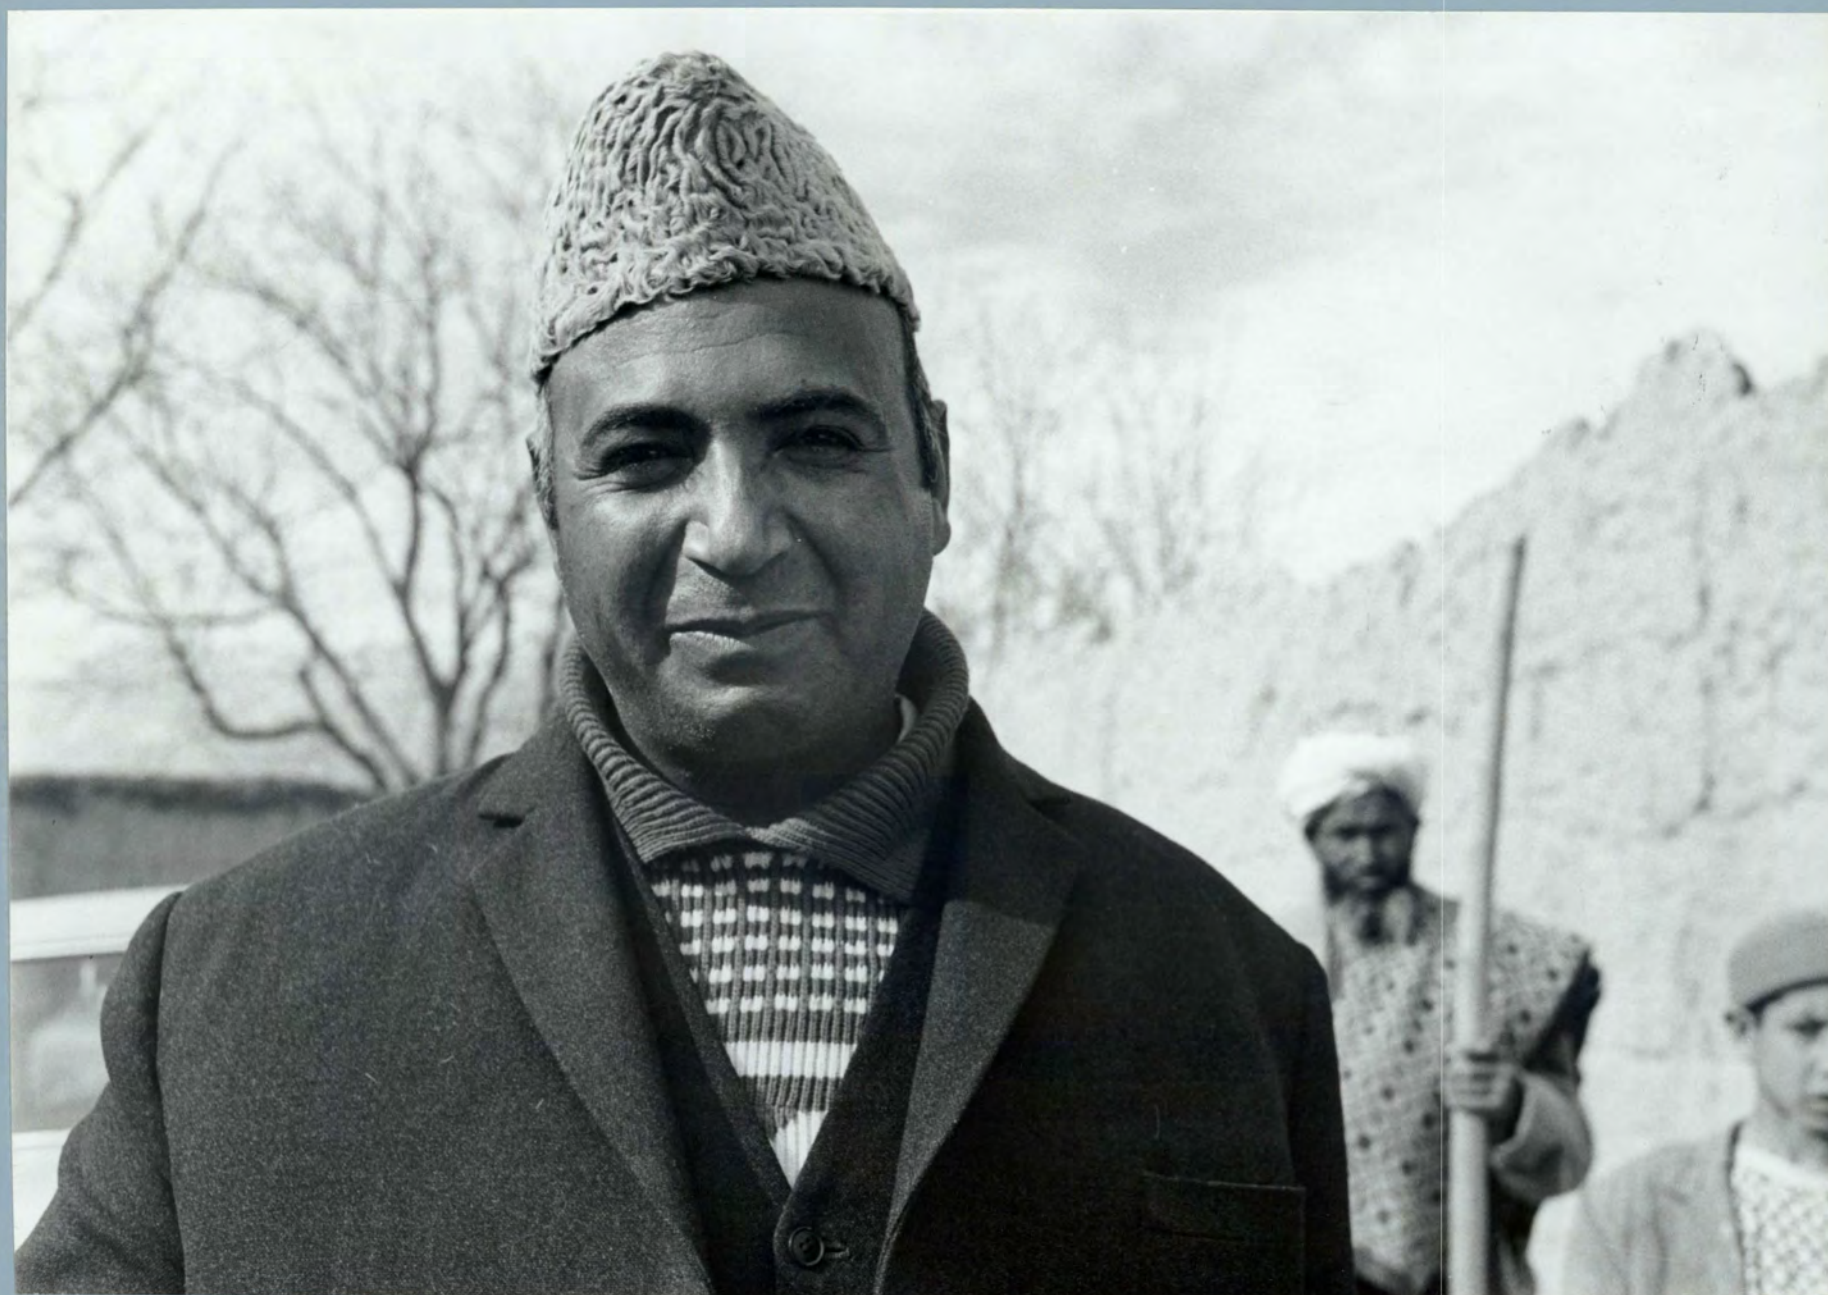

D-202-AF-78 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Mr. Kriechhammer (right), a German agricultural expert, talks with Mr. Abdul Kahim (left) whose farm at the edge of the village of Milbachacot, Kabul Province, was used as a demonstration plot for trellising by the agricultural credit program.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-79

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

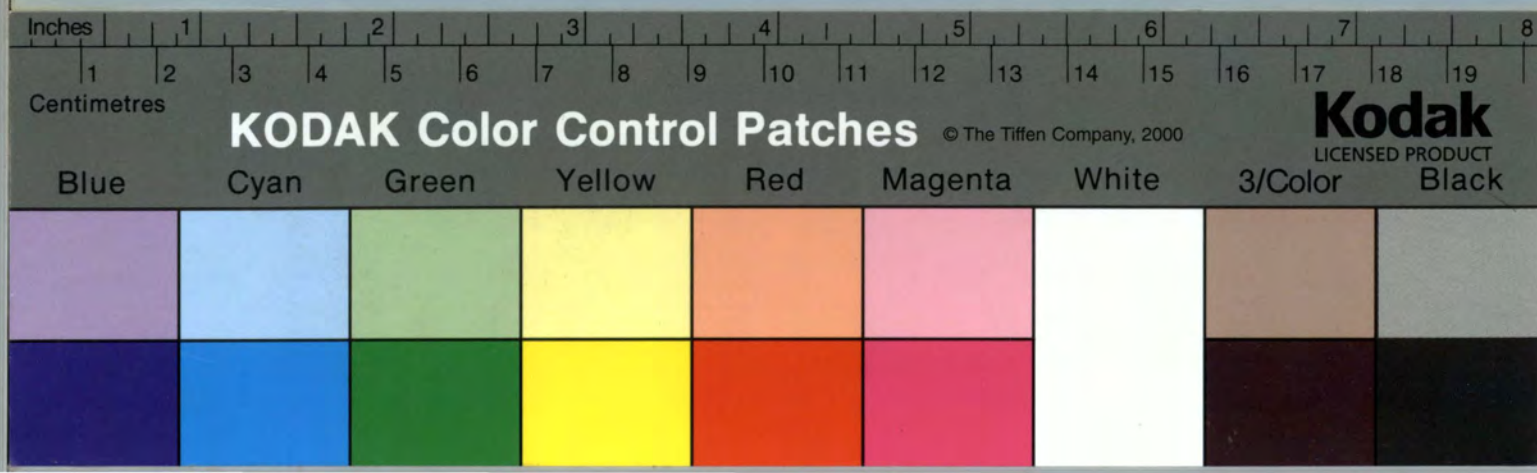

D-202-AF-79 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Mr. Abdul Kahim whose farm at the edge of the village of Milbachacot, Kabul Province, was used as a demonstration plot for trellising by the agricultural credit program.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970

D-202-AF-80

INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION (IDA), WASHINGTON, D.C. 20433

D-202-AF-80 Modernization of agriculture in Afghanistan is being assisted by funds from the International Development Association (IDA), a major part of which is helping to finance a three-year lending program of the Agricultural Development Bank of Afghanistan (AGBANK). Under the program, AGBANK is providing medium and long-term loans to farmers for the purchase of farm equipment, including tractors and pumpsets, and for improvement of small irrigation schemes.

Mr. Abdul Kahim (left) and Mr. Kriechhammer (right), a German agricultural expert. Mr. Kahim's grape farm at the edge of the village of Milbachacot, Kabul Province, was used as a demonstration plot for trellising by the agricultural credit program.

Photo: Kay Muldoon for IDA.

December 1970